

Chapter 650

The speed of Roger's punch was incredibly fast. His strength showed that he was the strongest bodyguard in the Yeager family!

The members of the Yeager family gasped in admiration and pride.

"Sure enough, it's worth it to pay him up to hundreds of billions of dollars per year!"

"Yeah, look at his speed and the strength. He's become more vigorous with age! It's amazing!"

"I think it will take one move at most to finish that Karen Leeoff. Let's see how she dares to be arrogant by then!"

Amongst these people, Brooke was one of the more excited ones. Of course, he didn't say it aloud. After all, he had been taken advantage of by Chuck.

Roger sneered as he listened to the words of admiration. He had been used to this ever since he had become the bodyguard of the Yeager family.

For him, it only took a second to impress everyone present!

He definitely would receive even more bonuses this year!

His fist grew closer to Karen.

There were only five centimeters left between his fist and her face!

He could already foresee this woman's death in the very next millisecond!

"You old fart. Younger people will always be stronger and faster. Don't you understand this simple statement?" Karen suddenly asked.

Upon hearing this, Roger was shocked!

Karen dodged his attack and her fists came at him.

Roger was startled and attempted to counterattack.

Thud!

Karen took a step back.

Meanwhile, Roger staggered backwards and almost fell down.

Everyone gasped.

They were all overcome with disbelief.

The Yeager family members, in particular, were absolutely flabbergasted. How could it be possible?

Their family's strongest bodyguard was unable to kill Karen with one blow!

Just now, Roger was almost about to succeed. However, Karen had managed to counterattack him in a flash.

Both Adriana and Nelson were taken aback. Nelson's expression was filled with shock. Karen had actually managed to avoid the attack effortlessly.

Were they dreaming?

"You? Hmph, you were just lucky. I've allowed you to live for 30 seconds longer. Now, you can go to hell!" Roger was furious since he had actually missed!

This was something that he had never experienced before!

He made his move again.

This time, he moved at an even greater speed.

Karen had only managed to escape death by luck. There wouldn't be a second chance for her to escape now!

"I've already told you, you're senile and weak. You're slow and don't have much strength. It's time for you to retire!" Karen no longer concealed her strength.

Since she had no time left, she had to intimidate everyone present. Otherwise, it would be very difficult for them to leave this place!

Karen exerted all her strength. This was the first time in her life that she used her greatest strength!

There was a ring on her hand that was made of a special metal weighing over dozens of kilograms. With this, this punch of hers now weighed over a thousand kilograms!

Bang!

Roger was bewildered.

Why?

Why was her fist so hard?

As a matter of fact, why did his own fist feel a little painful?

He looked down and found that his whole knuckle was indented, blood flowing out from the cracks of his fingers.

Roger's eyes widened.

He took a few steps back, panic now showing on his face.

However, Karen stepped forward and threw a punch with all the strength she could muster from her body!

She hit him right in the chest.

Roger couldn't even react and took on the blow square in the chest.

Bang!

He was thrown into the air like a ragdoll and crashed onto the ground, utterly injured from Karen's blow.

Roger tried to get up, but he found that he couldn't move at all. His chest felt like it had collapsed on itself, and he could only cough and sputter uncontrollably, blood continuously pouring from his mouth.

He plopped to the ground and could only heave raspily.

Everyone else fell dead silent.

They were all dumbfounded.

Every member of the Yeager family, including Brooke and Loomis, were surprised. Their jaws dropped.

How could the strongest bodyguard in their family be finished off in an instant?

Chuck could barely believe it.

His mother was awesome!

"Oh my god!"

Adriana was shocked. She could only gasp, "What's happening? How could she finish off this man so easily? Am I hallucinating?"

Similarly, Nelson was taken aback as well. This was impossible.

Karen was supposed to be no match for this old man. How could Roger be finished off in merely two hits from her?

It was incredulous. Suddenly, Nelson saw some sputum in the blood that Roger had coughed out. He finally realized something and whispered, "Miss Adriana, this man is sick. Look at the blood that he's coughing out, there's sputum inside... Looks like his strength has decreased because he is sick..."

Nelson felt that it was a great pity. He had wanted Roger to beat up Karen!

After noticing Roger's state, he immediately realized that Roger must've lost to Karen because he had fallen ill. Otherwise, how could Karen even be a match for him?

This was the only plausible explanation.

Adriana nodded thoughtfully, "Yeah, I agree that the old is always inferior in terms of strength to the young. The bodyguard in our family is only over fifty years old, about the same age as Karen. This wouldn't happen with us!"

"Yes, Miss Adriana. Our bodyguard is in his prime, so it would not be a problem for him. If he fights Karen, he'll defeat her for sure," Nelson agreed.

Adriana stared at Karen and muttered, "Oh Karen, you've given me a big surprise here..."

"Brooke, do you think that I'm qualified to negotiate with you now?" Karen inquired.

Brooke's expression fell. He was the most shocked amongst the group because he was fully aware of Roger's strength and skills. For him to lose in two hits was absolutely absurd!

This was incredible!

Was the strongest bodyguard in the Yeager family really too old?

"I'm only going to ask one more time. I'll bring my son and Willa away, and you can choose to either die or live! Choose!" Karen stated coldly.

"I..." Brooke had been utterly shocked twice in a day. He felt slightly frightened. Who even were these people?

"Choose!" Karen's cold voice echoed.

The Yeager family members were dumbstruck. Loomis was astonished and in a daze. He hurriedly urged, "Grandpa! Grandpa, answer her quickly. We don't want to die!"

Brooke gritted his teeth in anger. He was the head of a hidden family for so many years, and this was the first time he had been threatened like this!

"I choose to live!" Brooke hissed.

"Then scram!" Karen strode over.

The Yeager family's descendants frantically retreated!

"You chose to live, so you'd better stay in your place!" Karen grabbed Brooke by the collar.

"Scram, trash!" Chuck kicked Loomis.

"Argh! Don't hit me," Loomis pleaded for mercy.

Brooke's face fell. This was humiliating for the Yeager family!

"Stop doing that! Grandpa!" Someone shouted at Karen to stop.

"Get out of my way! He will live, but only if every single one of you behaves!" Karen declared.

The rest of the Yeager family members were angry, but they were also afraid.

Today was the first time that they had been placed in such a dire situation. They were all a bit overwhelmed.

"Chucky, Willa, let's get on the plane," Karen was the only one here, while Yvette, Black Rose and Betty were all on the plane. Yvette initially wanted to follow her, but Karen didn't allow her to.

Yvette knew that it was useless for her to come, so she stayed in the place.

As for Black Rose, she had already met up with Karen.

"Got it," Chuck helped Willa onto the plane.

Brooke, Loomis and Stacy were all taken away.

Soon, the plane's propellers started whirring loudly.

In a few seconds, the plane had left!

Only the remaining Yeager family members were left, staring blankly at the plane which grew smaller and smaller in their sight.

"Chase them! Let's go after them!" Someone suggested.

"But what if Karen kills grandpa?" Someone disapproved with the hasty decision.

Everyone was flustered since no one could take charge of the situation. No one knew what to do!

"No, we have to save grandpa!" A young man declared angrily.

"Wait! Karen is too powerful. Don't act rashly!" Roger, who had just been beaten by Karen coughed violently while he staggered towards them.

"Don't act rashly? You old b*stard, how could you lose to a woman? What's the point of us paying you so much?" One of them started pushing the blame towards him.

They spent billions of dollars on him, but this was the extent of his strength? He had lost to a piece of trash, so what would that make him?

Roger's face darkened. He felt ashamed, since Karen's strength was really unexpectedly strong. He had actually been defeated by a woman!

However, none of them knew what to do after listening to Robert's advice. After all, Chuck had a bomb on him, and Karen had already proven her strength in defeating the strongest bodyguard of their family. One wrong move, and they were finished!

With no one in charge, they continued to suggest useless proposals to save their kin.

Adriana stared at the plane, feeling disappointed and furious. She grumbled, "How can you just leave like this... Chuck, you didn't beg me and just left! When you left, you didn't even look at me..."

"Miss, what should we do?" Nelson noticed that Adriana's emotions were getting out of control.

She had initially wanted Chuck to plead for her help. If that happened, she could persuade him to marry into her family. However, in the end, she had actually helped Chuck and saved Willa instead!

Adriana was furious.

"What should I do? Chuck Cannon, you've made me so angry today!" Adriana muttered coldly.

Nelson was speechless, but he suddenly thought of Willa. He continued, "Will Willa tell Karen about this?"

"How dare she! If she does so, I'll finish off Karen as well!" Adriana's eyes were cold and filled with possessiveness.

Chapter 651

In a dark room.

Chadrick was waiting, pacing back and forth.

He really wanted to go out.

All of a sudden, he received a phone call and heaved a sigh of relief.

Soon, the phone was hung up.

"Karen, you're still as brave as you used to be... Everything's fine for now. However, it's still too early for you to offend the Yeager family. It's not a wise move, but you were forced to..."

Chadrick sighed and fell deep into his thoughts. The Yeager family was not that simple. The hidden family had existed for thousands of years and accumulated wealth for dozens of generations. How could things have ended like that just now?

He knew that the only reason why things had turned out that way was that Chuck took the initiative and controlled the situation with a bomb!

Otherwise, with the strength of the Yeager family, even the strength of ten Karens combined would be unable to save Chuck.

A tide was coming. From today onwards, the hidden families were no longer a secret...

.....

"Chucky, Willa, have a good rest!" Karen said.

Chuck was fine. He was just injured to the point of spitting blood but had no major internal injuries. As a combat master, he could still hold on after taking a rest. But Willa was about to faint.

"Betty, bring Willa to her room and give her some medicine!" Karen said.

Betty ran over and helped Willa, who was in a daze, head over to her room for some rest. Willa had been holding on for so long that she could no longer stand straight.

In a daze, she looked at Chuck and saw that he was still fine. It was only then that she could finally relax. The both of them were still alive.

Chucky really did save her from there...

"Mom, what should we do now?" Chuck had finally come back to his senses and realized that he was in trouble.

They wouldn't stand a chance to the hidden family if they solely relied on Karen's strength.

Even if Brooke, Loomis and Stacy were on the plane, they were still at a disadvantage.

After all, the real power of the Yeager family had yet to be unleashed!

"Don't worry, I'll take care of it. You should go rest first. Yvette, bring Chucky to a room!" Karen replied.

Chuck could only obey. Yvette helped Chuck walk to the front of the plane to rest. She had to carefully clean Chuck's wounds!

When Yvette saw Chuck just now, she secretly shed tears. His chest was bleeding because he had been beaten so badly...

She glanced at him with distress, already able to imagine the dire situation Chuck had just faced.

"By the way, mom," Chuck suddenly thought of something.

"What is it?"

"Ahh, forget it. Let's talk about it later," Chuck dismissed his concerns. It would be better for him to discuss it with his mother in a while. After all, his mother's face was still grim!

"Alright, Chucky. Don't worry too much. I'll help you no matter what, even if the sky comes crashing down," Karen said softly.

She had also been frightened to death upon finding Chuck missing. It wasn't until she saw him safe and sound that she felt relieved.

"Thank you, mom," Chuck was on the verge of tears.

"Silly boy. Yvette, go ahead," Karen shook her head.

Then, Yvette helped Chuck walk to the front of the plane.

"Do you even know what the sky crashing down will look like?" Brooke sneered.

He had calmed down. But why?

This was because he knew that Karen would never dare to hurt him for now!

If she really did, the Yeager family's revenge would turn the world they knew upside down.

Hence, Karen wouldn't dare to do anything - for now!

As for Loomis and Stacy, they were still sitting on the ground in a daze.

"You don't know how it'll be either, because the sky won't actually come crashing down," Karen replied calmly.

"Of course it can't. However, have you forgotten that the Yeager family's connections are as wide as an ocean? It'll be more than enough for me to crush someone like you! Should I remind you that we own one-third of the entire world? Half of your company's business is under my family! Do you understand? I'm way more powerful than you can imagine!" Brooke stated proudly.

"This whole world belongs to the three hidden families. The reason you have achieved what you have today is not that you are powerful, but you picked up whatever trash we discarded. You're no more than a pitiful beggar who builds your success on other's garbage! That's right, you grew up on filth. Yet, you dare to go against me? Hah, what a joke! You must be out of your mind!"

"You'd better watch your mouth. My behavior depends on how you treat me, so if you dare run your mouth again, I'll be sure to repay you tenfold!" Karen warned coldly.

"Do you even have the power to do that? Karen Lee, if you let me go now, I will pretend that nothing happened today. I will spare the lives of you and your son!" Brooke cackled.

"I don't need you to spare my life. On the contrary, you'll probably need that from me!" Karen walked over towards him slowly.

Meanwhile, Brooke was busy laughing maniacally.

Loomis gritted his teeth in anger and grumbled, "Karen Lee, what do you want to do? Let us go, or the Yeager family..."

Karen didn't even let him finish.

She only spared one glance at him and grabbed his neck!

"Please don't kill me, Karen Lee. I beg you, I don't want to die, so please don't kill me..." Loomis was scared out of his wits when he felt Karen's fingers tightening around his neck.

"Don't interrupt me when I'm talking," Karen stated lividly.

Her grip tightened.

Then, she threw Loomis across the aisle. Loomis literally dropped onto the other side of the plane like garbage. He was horrified, fear evident on his face.

He even peed in his pants.

Karen was once an assassin. Her intense gaze was not something that Loomis, who had been pampered all along, could take.

"How dare you hit my grandson?" Brooke was furious.

On the other hand, Stacy was frightened to death.

"I'm talking to you. He's spewing nonsense, so I'm just teaching him a lesson. How about you? Do you wanna talk nonsense too?" Karen looked at Stacy who was utterly dumbfounded on the ground.

"Ah, LoomisYeager is talkative and doesn't know his place. Don't punish me please, I won't do that! I'll shut up. I won't say a word, I promise!" Stacy was terrified.

Upon seeing this, Brooke was infuriated and roared, "You idiot! What are you afraid of?"

"Grandpa, her eyes are so scary. I'm so scared..." Stacy cried out in fear.

Brooke looked at Stacy infuriatedly.

"What do you want? Are you going to bring me back to your house?" Brooke asked angrily.

"It's up to you. I've allowed you to choose whether you wanted to live or die. Now that you've chosen to live, are you going back on your words?" Karen asked.

"Fine! Say it!" Brooke hissed. A sinister thought planted itself in his mind. He would listen to her for now, then massacre her entire family.

"As I've said, I would've never bothered the Yeager family in the first place. Now that you've expressed killing intent towards my family, I have no more concerns nor qualms to deal with your family. I can just kill you here and then proceed to wipe out the entire Yeager family. How would you find that?"

"Do you even dare?" Brooke was both shocked and furious.

"Are you doubting me here?" Karen raised an eyebrow and Brooke's face fell.

He was speechless.

Chuck was a madman, and Karen was the mother of a madman. She was definitely out of her mind too!

If Karen actually carried out whatever she had said, Brooke was a sitting duck!

"So, I can let you go, on one condition," Karen stated plainly.

"What do you want?"

"Three years! I want you to maintain the peace between us for just three years!"

"Three years? Hehe, you want me to give you three years to grow up, don't you? When the time comes, you'll be able to compete with the Yeager family, right?" Brooke mused sarcastically.

"If that's what you assume, I have no comments," Karen shrugged.

Brooke was contemplating. Be it ten, thirty or even a hundred years, Karen would never be able to stand on equal ground with the Yeager family.

On top of that, Brooke was never planning to keep his words.

"How much can you improve in three years?" Brooke asked.

"It's none of your business. If you agree, I'll let you go now. If not, you'll have to die here!" Karen made it simple.

Brooke was furious, but he still wanted to live.

Therefore, he could only agree to it for now.

"Okay! I agree! Let us go, and I won't interfere with you and your business for three years!" Brooke gave in.

"Great. Please abide by your promise," Karen walked towards them. Suddenly, something appeared on the tips of her fingers...

Brooke heaved a sigh of relief. Karen wouldn't dare to do anything to them anyways!

Soon, Brooke was free. So was Stacy, and the unconscious Loomis.

Brooke stared at Karen in suspicion and asked, "Do you really trust me that much?"

He was very confused. Karen was certainly not stupid, so how could she just do something this rash?

"Brooke Yeager, you're a man of your word, so I will believe you. In addition, your family is quite powerful, isn't it?" Karen replied indifferently.

"Good, you're sensible. Let us down now!" They were on the plane, they had to be let down first. Once they reached the ground, the Yeager family would come to pick them up immediately.

 Watch Ads to Get 15 Vouchers