

Chapter 746

Brayden called Loomis 'Master' in front of everyone, causing Elijah to fly into a rage.

The other family members stared at each other in dismay. No one dared to speak!

"Well done, Brayden! From now on, your last name is no longer Lee. I allow your last name to be Yeager." Loomis laughed.

"My pleasure, master!" Brayden bowed respectfully.

For him, staying alive was the most important thing. Family? Family name? These were not worth mentioning!

The other Lee family members felt uncomfortable. They wanted to live as well!

Elijah clenched his fists tightly, and crackling sounds could be heard.

"Brayden, I shouldn't have driven Karen out. You're the one I should drive out!" Elijah roared.

He regretted mistreating Karen at the time and keeping a sinful son like Brayden.

How dare he betray him and become someone else's lap dog!

Was living more important than self-respect?

"Dad, stop it. Come over here, all of you! If you folks come over here, you can live!" Brayden said to the rest of the family.

They kept silent and glanced at each other.

No one dared to move.

When Loomis saw this, he smiled. "If you don't come over here, I'll kill you. Get over here and kneel before me, and I'll reward you with my last name, Yeager!"

Elijah's eyes were blood red. They were covered up by humiliation.

"Dad, I want to live!"

"Grandpa, I also want to live!"

"Grandpa, forgive me. I want to survive!"

One after another, the descendants of the Lee family went over. Tears streamed down their faces as they knelt to Loomis.

One by one, they bowed their heads.

Soon, only Elijah was left on the spot. He looked lonely.

Loomis laughed hideously. "Well, from today onwards, your last name is Yeager! You are part of my Yeager family!"

"Yes, master!"

The Lee family descendants lowered their heads in shame. They did not dare to look at Elijah.

"Dad, come here! Staying alive is more important than anything!" Brayden said.

"Yes, Grandpa. Come here, it's okay! It's just a last name!"

"Don't bother about the surname. There's no difference! Grandpa, come here quickly. Just kneel to Master Yeager. It's easy!"

The Lee family members were crying out.

Hearing these kinds of words, Elijah felt agonized. Did he raise a bunch of spineless trash?

These were all his children. They shamelessly called someone else as their master!

"Shut up!"

Elijah was resentful. "From now on, you are no longer

Lee family members. Remember, Lee family has rejected you all!"

The Lee family's descendants looked at each other.

To them, survival was more important than anything else. They didn't care about anything else.

Loomis grinned. "Oh, you have guts. Just kneel to me, and you'll be able to survive. You can also be a descendant of a hidden family. What else do you want?"

"Shut up!"

Elijah took one step forward without fear!

"I won't kneel!"

"Then I'll get someone to help you. I love it when people get on their knees for me, especially you!" Loomis waved his hand menacingly. "Brayden! Get him on his knees!"

"Master, he is my..." Brayden was hesitating.

Bang!

A slap landed on his face.

Brayden's face was red and swollen.

He was furious, but he didn't dare to say anything. He could only take a step forward. None of the Lee family's descendants dared to speak. All of them bowed their heads.

"Dad, don't be so stubborn," Brayden tried to persuade Elijah.

"Shut up!"

Elijah couldn't bear it anymore. He stepped forward and threw a punch!

Bang!

Brayden clashed with him head-on.

Elijah fell down!

Spitting blood out of his mouth, Elijah lay on the ground in a mess.

"Dad, you're old." Atop his expressionless face, Brayden said.

"I regret having a son like you!" Elijah said as he climbed to his feet. Blood kept flowing out of his mouth.

"No, you should regret having Karen as your daughter!" Brayden shouted angrily.

"Never! I won't!"

"Brayden Yeager, why aren't you taking action?" Loomis urged lazily.

"Yes, master!" Brayden hesitated for a few seconds. "Master, perhaps my father can be used to lure Karen over!"

"Oh, no! Karen was kicked out by all of you. She no longer has feelings for your family since long ago. Do you expect her to come here to save your family?" Loomis had no humanity. Naturally, he thought of Karen in the same way.

How could Karen come to their rescue?

"Let him kneel to me! Then, I'll let him go. Otherwise, Brayden Yeager, you'll die!"

Brayden's face was cold. He walked up to Elijah and kicked him.

Elijah rolled over and knelt on the ground, his kneecaps were broken.

None of the Lee family's descendants dared to speak. They didn't even dare to raise their heads!

"Dad, don't blame me!" Brayden walked back.

"Well done! Let's go. All of you can follow me!" Loomis laughed heartily.

He took his men and left.

The others bowed their head and followed, as did Brayden. He hated Karen even more now! It was all because of her.

"Young Master, do you want me to kill him?" A bodyguard asked.

"Kill him? Why should I kill him? I've already trampled on the old man's pride. After we leave, he will definitely commit suicide. Wouldn't it be a greater revenge on Karen if he kills himself?" Loomis laughed sinisterly.

"I got it. Young Master, you're smart!"

Loomis smiled. It was just the beginning. Chuck and Karen will regret their doings!

"Karen, I'm sorry. I shouldn't have thrown you out. Otherwise, today's episode would not have happened. We had it coming to us, and it was all our own fault..." Elijah was full of remorse.

If he hadn't chased Karen away, with Karen around, Loomis wouldn't have been able to do anything!

A family's support was important! Brayden was spineless, and so was everyone else. Elijah felt ashamed to be a father.

Elijah lowered his head and stared at a piece of glass on the floor. He stretched out his hand and slowly picked it up...

Karen and Chuck went out.

"Mom, why did you bring me here?" Chuck didn't understand why Karen had took him to her tech company.

What was going on?

"I'll provide you with good equipment! You'll be in great danger in the next few days. Do you understand?" Karen said calmly.

The tech company had everything, including self-rescue drugs and special metals. Karen gave Chuck a set on all fronts, which she felt was very necessary.

His limbs must be protected. In this way, Chuck could perform better in combat.

But when Chuck put on a new set of equipment, he saw that Karen had received a call. Then he did not see her move again. He walked over to her and asked, "Mom, what's wrong?"

Karen closed her eyes and shed a tear.

Chapter 747

"Your grandfather is dead... He killed himself."

She wiped away her tears, and a ripple went through her heart.

As for her father, Elijah, Karen could not describe him at all. When she was a child back then, she was treated worse than even a servant. Compared to the treatment of her brothers, it was like heaven and hell.

He didn't even want to pay for Karen's tuition. In short, he inexplicably hated Karen.

As long as Karen did something, even spending a penny from the family, he would scold her!

When Karen started to earn money, he didn't support her when she was poor, not even a penny.

Karen had no complaints. She thought that it was enough for Elijah to raise her. In the end, Karen had a successful career and even secretly helped the Lee family! She brought billions of dollars of profit to the Lee family every year.

For more than a decade, the Lee family gained at least a hundred billion dollars. This was what Karen gave back to the Lee family that raised her.

Not long ago, Elijah drove Karen out of the Lee family.

He ruthlessly cut off his relationship with Karen.

Karen, who remembered her past in the Lee family, could not continue to bear it. If she hadn't been kicked out of her home, she would have continued to secretly send profits to the Lee family.

For the family who only wanted money from her, it was fine to break off things with them!

And what Karen couldn't tolerate was that Elijah acquiesced to Brayden killing Chuck!

Karen couldn't bear it!

Chuck was her bottom line!

Karen already felt that she had done enough for Elijah and the Lee family.

In the future, there would be no kinship between them. Whenever they met, all they had to do was nod at each other. However, Elijah has died...

Karen had mixed emotions.

Chuck felt astonished. Elijah killed himself?

Soon, Chuck immediately understood what was going on. Loomis had taken action. Otherwise, why would Elijah have killed himself?

What about Brayden and the others?

Chuck could imagine that they would decide to work for Loomis.

"Mom, this..."

"Chucky, I want to have some time to myself. Go in first. Betty's waiting inside," Karen said.

Chuck didn't know how to comfort Karen. He had no feelings for Elijah. He didn't feel sad at all when he suddenly got the news.

He even... felt glad to hear that!

Because Elijah kicked Karen out of the Lee family!

One should know, with Karen's strength, she could destroy the Lee family!

Since they have turned against each other and became strangers, why should Karen give face to them?

If it was Chuck, he certainly wouldn't be soft-hearted!

In fact, Karen had a soft heart. Otherwise, she would not have let Black Rose and Sabina off at that time.

The Lee family should be grateful for Karen's soft heart. It was their luck.

Chuck walked out of the car. Karen kept silent. She then sighed and called someone. "Prepare the burial of my father... Yes, I will go there if I have time..."

Chuck went to the tech company by himself, and Betty took him to change his clothes. To improve one's strength in the absence of time, prepared equipment was the most direct way.

The process didn't take long.

Chuck put on a new set of equipment, and his limbs were covered with soft armor. He was safer and more capable of fighting.

He packed everything up, including some first aid medication. Now, he was fully equipped.

At this time, Karen came in.

It was obvious that she was still sad, so Chuck didn't say anything.

Because he wasn't sad, he might even laugh out loud if he spoke. Wouldn't it be embarrassing if Karen heard it?

So it was better for him to shut up.

Karen went in without saying a word.

Chuck waited for a while until Karen and Betty came out of the company. However, Karen kept silent all the way. When she drove to a place, she stopped and asked, "Chucky, are you willing to see your grandfather now?"

Karen still wanted to see Elijah one last time, even though Elijah had never given her any fatherly affection.

The Lee family members had abandoned Elijah, and he was left alone. Karen could not bear to see that.

"Yes, Mom." Although Chuck was unwilling to do so, Karen wanted to see Elijah. He had no choice.

"Okay, let's go now."

Karen drove over.

They arrived at the Lee family house.

Karen's men were handling Elijah's body. His throat was cut by glass, and he was still holding the bloody glass in his hand.

Chuck looked at him without any expression, and Karen could not help sighing.

She personally carried him into the car.

Chuck was thinking about Loomis' intentions. He wanted Brayden to deal with him and Karen!

Loomis's idea was really insidious. Anyway, Chuck felt that it was shameless.

After taking care of Elijah's body, Karen, Chuck and Betty got into their car and left.

Through the rearview mirror, Karen took one last look at Elijah and then pressed on the accelerator.

During the whole process, Chuck was silent.

Back at home, Betty and Karen were busy preparing to deal with Loomis.

After all, although Loomis had become the head of the Yeager family in advance, it was also part of Karen's plan. They only needed to follow the original plan.

Chuck still had the handle of Loomis in his hand. He was considering when to give it to him as a gift.

It should be about time. What kind of look would Loomis have at that time?

Chuck didn't think too much about it. Loomis' mindset was different now. This kind of handle probably wasn't of much use to him.

Patricia called with a detailed report on the casino. The casino was doing very well, and Chuck was pleased. After all, this was his first business in the United States.

Chuck had a large number of security guards over there.

To make sure Loomis couldn't make trouble!

What Chuck didn't know, however, was that Sophia's side was now in great danger.

That's right, Loomis knew from last time that Chuck and Sophia were on good terms. Otherwise, why would Chuck stand up for Sophia?

First, he directed his attack at Sophia.

Whoosh!

A swarm of people suddenly appeared in front of Sophia's house. They were all bodyguards of the Yeager family.

They came, and no one could stop them.

"Elise, you go first." Sophia had long since noticed the problem. She knew what was going on, that Loomis had sent someone over.

When she learned that the head of the Yeager family had changed, and it was Loomis, she already expected him to come to her.

Because of what happened last time.

"Mom, what is happening?" Elise was in a panic.

There was a rain of bullets outside.

The loud noises scared the hell out of her.

"Loomis sent his men here to deal with us. Go first!" Sophia pulled Elise's hand and went out.

She reminded the bodyguards to send Elise away. It was useless for Elise to struggle. She had already been taken away forcefully by the bodyguards.

Boom!

Outside the house was a war zone. Sophia personally took out a rifle and pulled the trigger with a bang.

She tried her best to kill the enemies.

In fact, she was also a sharpshooter!

Bang!

Suddenly, a bomb flew in their direction, directly towards Sophia!
