

Chapter 838

Liliana Lowe had never been so afraid before.

What was going on with Chuck Cannon a moment ago?

He was just like the God of Death!

"I won't look for trouble with him anymore. I won't do that anymore..." Gaige Lowe mumbled, slumping on the ground.

"That helicopter was here to pick him up. Chuck actually comes from a rich family. No wonder he didn't want my money at that time. I thought that he was pretending." Liliana thought of this and was in a daze.

Gaige was even more frightened.

Chuck could kill him anytime with such strength!

Chuck had cast a glance at them before he left. He saw them!

"Gaige, let's go back. I... I'm scared." Liliana's face was pale. She was really scared.

"Okay, let's go back."

The two of them ran up the mountain.

"How did these people die?"

Someone went down the mountain and found their corpses.

Scarlett and the others also went down the mountain.

"Chuck did it. Hubert asked his men to catch him!" Scarlett spoke coldly.

There were still people alive at the scene.

"Did Chuck kill all of them on his own?" One of the coaches asked in shock.

"That's right, he killed them on his own!"

"But no matter what, he can't kill Hubert!"

"Why can't Chuck kill him?" Scarlett retorted directly. "It's a blessing that Chuck did not destroy Hubert's family."

"Destroy Hubert's family? Does Chuck have the ability to do that?" a coach was skeptical.

"Yes! Because Chuck's mother is Karen, who had held the record of the Wolfen Sect for twenty years!" Scarlett revealed.

The coaches who didn't know about this were startled.

Scarlett blinked her eyes as she muttered to herself, "He's such a baller who feared nothing..."

.....

Chuck called his mother, telling her that he had graduated. Karen was very proud of him.

"Mom, I'm sorry. I shouldn't have hung up the phone last time," Chuck apologized sincerely.

"Silly boy, I don't mind anyway! Now that you have graduated from the Wolfen Sect, it means that you should be able to kill more than twenty people. I can be rest assured and let you do what you want."

Karen was very gratified.

Scarlett had called her and gave high complimentary remarks to Chuck.

"Well, alright. I'll hang up now!"

"Okay."

When Chuck hung up the phone, Betty came over. "This is the bracelet that President Lee asked me to give you. These two bracelets are 50 kilograms each! There are also two bracelets for the legs which weigh 50 kilograms each as well. Wearing this, your strength will increase when you hit others."

Throwing a fist weighing 50 kilograms meant that the power of the punch could be more than 1000 kilograms.

Not to mention the power of the legs.

Chuck smiled. He took off the equipment given by Scarlett and put on the 200 kilograms of equipment that his mother had prepared for him. Although Chuck was still unaccustomed to it now, he could get used to it very soon.

"Young Master, please eat something. We'll be at Yolanda's place soon," said Betty.

"Okay."

After Chuck finished eating, he began to read all kinds of investment information.

He could start his business empire without any hitch.

Yolanda and Nancy were discussing when the helicopter arrived.

"Chuck has been there for so many days. Why hasn't he come back yet?" Nancy asked casually.

Chuck had asked her to deal with the stone gambling and she had begun to work on it. She had started to establish the platform.

She believed that the result would be able to satisfy Chuck.

Yolanda was even faster. The renovation had been going on day and night for around two weeks. The pharmaceutical factory was about to start their production.

It would start in the next few days.

At that time, this kind of special medicine would be all over the world.

Then money was not a problem.

"I'm not sure." Yolanda was doing her work.

"Tell me, why does Chuck trust you so much? Did anything happen between the two of you? That's why he trusts you a lot?" Yolanda was Nancy's friend, thus she dared to ask such a private question.

Yolanda was speechless. "What are you thinking about? Chuck is my boss. What would happen between us?"

This was something that would never happen.

She was Chuck's employee.

"Really?" Nancy doubted.

"Do I look like I'm joking? Or do you wish something to happen between the two of you?" Yolanda asked strangely.

"No, I don't. Stop talking nonsense." Nancy's face turned red and she lowered her head. It was as if her intention was discovered by someone.

Chuck was indeed an ideal man. He was rich and handsome. Nancy did have such intentions.

He was such a domineering president.

She also liked this kind of man.

"Well, I won't talk nonsense. Chuck, you're back?" Yolanda was surprised in an instant.

Nancy also turned to look at the entrance swiftly.

Chuck and Betty came in.

"Yes, I'm back." Chuck shrugged.

About ten days had passed, of course nothing had changed for the two beautiful women.

However, Yolanda and Nancy both saw the change in Chuck.

It was obvious!

Chuck had gained a lot of muscles on his arms and legs.

The muscles almost burst out of his clothes!

What did he do in this period? How could his muscles be so terrifying?!

"It's good that you're back. Nancy and I will make a report to you." Yolanda gazed at him expectantly.

Nancy tidied up her clothes and approached Chuck.

"Okay." This was Chuck's purpose to come here.

The two women began to report. Chuck was very satisfied with the efficiency of the two of them.

Betty fixed her gaze at Chuck's serious expression.

"Well, thank you for your hard work. Let's find a place to eat. I have something else to tell you guys." When Chuck was on the helicopter, he thought of a new idea.

This might be because his strength had increased by leaps and bounds, thus he had the confidence to do anything.

"Okay, where are we going to eat?"

"It doesn't matter. It's fine as long as we can get full. Let's go. We can talk about it while eating."

The three women then went out with Chuck.

What Chuck didn't know was that someone had targeted him.

"Chuck is having such a carefree life and still investing everywhere." Loomis Yeager was furious.

He had went to the United States with Frieda Olmedo.

"What do you think?" Frieda asked.

Anyway, she had lots of ideas.

"I have a lot of ideas!" Loomis placed his hand on Frieda's shoulder. "Why don't we find a place to talk?"

Frieda said coldly, "Do you think I am your woman just because I have slept with you once?"

"Aren't you?" Loomis couldn't forget how wonderful it was when he was with Frieda.

"No! I do not belong to anyone. Take your hand away!" Frieda was in a rage.

Loomis removed his arms. "Don't be angry. Isn't Chuck our common target? Let's deal with him together."

"So you do remember?" Frieda stared at Chuck as he left and her eyes turned colder.

She didn't want Chuck to live a leisure life.

She wanted Chuck to regret everything he had done to her!

.....

United States.

At the airport, a short-haired woman with a backpack showed up. Her figure was perfect. When she came out of the airport, many people were looking at her.

It was rare to see such a natural beauty.

She was wearing a pair of sunglasses. If Adriana Whitlock was here, she would recognize her as she was the strongest bodyguard of the Whitlock family.

Her talent had surpassed Karen Lee.

This was what Adriana thought.

She came back in order to kill Karen.

"Hey pretty, where are you going? I'll take you there!"

A driver was trying to strike up a conversation.

She did not pay attention to anyone. Her only goal was to kill Karen.

Chapter 839

She ignored everyone and took out the information that the Whitlock family had given to her.

She had all the details about Karen Lee.

By the way, her name was Eleanor Lacourt.

"I've noticed you since a long time ago. You seldom make a move. But according to the information, you've been a killer for a period of time? Interesting!"

Eleanor usually stays in the Whitlock family. She was the strongest bodyguard of the Whitlock family.

There were three more people who were on par with her in strength.

The existence of these four people ensured the safety of the greatest household, the Whitlock family.

"Let me see. Where are you?"

Eleanor's interest was piqued.

"Hey pretty, where are you going? I'll send you!" A taxi caught up with her.

This kind of neutral beauty with short hair was the best. He didn't want to miss the opportunity. If he could spend a night with her, he would be willing to live ten years less!

"Okay, I'm going here!" Eleanor got on the car.

"Oh." Of course, the driver knew that it was one of the most luxurious residential areas in the United States.

The driver drove to the destination. He could not hide his desires anymore. "Miss, why don't I send you over? I'm very strong, you'll like it."

"Oh, you are strong?" Eleanor was expressionless.

"Yes, do you want to try?"

"No, I don't." Eleanor refused without hesitation.

"It's fine, I am really willing to be with you. To be honest, if I can have s*x with you once, I am willing to live ten years less. I like you so much..." The driver became excited.

"You want to live ten years less? What about I kill you now?"

Eleanor reached out her hand and hit the driver's neck. Her action was gentle, just like a flick of a finger.

However...

Crack!

The driver was shocked and in great pain. He covered his neck and felt miserable. "You, you..."

Eleanor had alighted from the car.

The driver died in ten seconds.

Eleanor found a place to monitor the residential area.

"Miss Whitlock said that it would be better for her to die in an accident. This would be a little challenging! However, I enjoy killing such a powerful woman!"

Eleanor could see the people in the villa through a pair of precise binoculars.

"She's vigilant. She seldom appears by the window. What an expert! It's going to be fun this time."

Eleanor was expressionless as she started planning on how to kill Karen.

Then, her cell phone vibrated and she answered.

It was a call from Adriana's bodyguard.

"Have you arrived?"

"Yeah, I've seen Karen," answered Eleanor.

"Let me remind you again, Miss Whitlock doesn't want to let others suspect that she was the one who asked you to do it. You must kill the target without anyone knowing!"

"Got it. Did you say that you've fought with Karen?" Eleanor asked.

"Yes."

"She should be able to defeat you with a single move!" This was Eleanor's analysis.

Eleanor was observing Karen from a distance. Karen's vigilance indicated that she was very powerful!

"You!!"

"There's no need to deny it! I won't be wrong."

"It's because I was not ready last time, so..."

"Don't make excuses. The most important thing is to improve yourself. Tell Miss Whitlock, I'll satisfy her!" Eleanor hung up the phone.

She continued to keep an eye on Karen.

If it was an ordinary person, she didn't even need to observe her. She would just design a perfect accident and kill her immediately.

However, Karen was different.

She was the one who killed the strongest bodyguard of the Yeager family.

As the strongest bodyguard of the Whitlock family, Eleanor would not look down upon Karen.

Therefore, she had to make a good plan for this murder. She would personally design an 'accident' to kill Karen.

It was much more difficult than killing Karen directly.

When she was on the plane, she had almost finished the plan. When she saw Karen, she had completed her plan.

"Do you want to die in a car accident or an explosion? What about being poisoned to death? I have a lot of choices that will satisfy you..."

Eleanor beamed and revealed a vicious look on her face.

Crack!

Karen was busy. She took a piece of bread to fill her stomach but she accidentally broke a bowl.

Karen squatted down to clean it up. Hiss! Her hand was cut.

Karen blinked her eyes. "Maybe I'm too tired!"

She simply put on a band-aid and continued her work after she ate the bread.

She had already known the Yeager family was in a state of revival.

The Yeager family was attacking her property overwhelmingly.

Karen was particularly busy.

Since Betty, whom she had always trusted was not by her side, she didn't have many people to discuss with.

"The casino, restaurants and companies in the west have been targeted by the Yeager family. The one in the east..."

Karen was speechless. "Sabina, you make my head ache."

She began to think of a way to deal with Sabina. It must be a long process.

When the strength of a hidden family was revealed, it would be absolutely astonishing!

Karen was particularly clear about this.

Especially after Sabina went through a great change in her personality, even Karen was caught unprepared by her series of actions.

With a large family and business, it was definitely impossible for her to control it completely.

While Karen was figuring out a solution, her eyes glanced at the window. She trod towards the window and looked outside. She didn't see anything.

"I'm feeling unease. Maybe I'm too tired?"

Karen closed the curtains and rubbed her eyes.

"You are indeed vigilant and have a sensitive sixth sense. But this time, I'm the one you're dealing with. No one will be able to save you! If you want to blame someone, blame yourself for offending the heir of the greatest household!" Eleanor smiled slightly as she saw Karen in person.

 Watch Ads to Get 15 Vouchers

Chapter 840

Chuck, Yolanda, Nancy and Betty had finished their meal.

They discussed the business plan for the future while eating.

Both Yolanda and Nancy had their own ideas and opinions, which were rather excellent.

Therefore, Chuck could act according to their ideas.

After all, both of them had good foresight when it came to business dealings.

A few days later, the pharmaceutical factory successfully dispatched the goods. When Chuck had been training in the Wolfen Sect, Yolanda had already recruited an artist to film the advertisements.

They were going to spend 500 million dollars on various kinds of advertisements.

Their advertisement plan was immensely extensive!

A reason for that was because Chuck was very confident in his pharmaceutical factory's products.

On top of that, the artist Yolanda had recruited was Zabrina Yalden, someone Chuck was acquainted with.

Studying the advertisements for which Yolanda had led the filming, Chuck thought that they were splendid!

When Chuck had been in the United States, Zabrina had starred in the first movie that he had invested 30 million dollars in . it.

Upon its release, its performance at the box office was satisfactory to say the least.

It broke the record of literary films!

As a result, Chuck had gained a lot from it.

Zabrina's performance in that particular movie had been much better than all her previous acts. Consequently, her acting skills were commended by many.

That movie transformed Zabrina from an online celebrity to a real actor.

Her wish came true as well. Through that literary film, she won her first best actress award.

That award only propelled her popularity.

Hence, requesting her participation in the advertisement filming was just perfect.

Soon, it was the day of the press conference.

Chuck saw Zabrina backstage. Clad in a gown, her beauty was simply immaculate.

As the spokesman of the medicinal products, Yolanda's appearance and physique was attractive in its own right too.

Hence, Zabrina, Yolanda and Nancy became the centre of everyone's attention.

As Zabrina was a famous celebrity, many reporters showed up although Yolanda had not invited them.

The headlines of the news on the next day would all be about Zabrina's endorsement of the medicine.

"Long time no see." Zabrina took the initiative to greet Chuck.

When Yolanda approached her to shoot an advertisement, she was very surprised because she didn't know that Chuck had started to produce medicine.

More surprising was the fact that the medicine had been inherited from his family.

She was curious about how many industries Chuck was involved in. In the past, he had invested in movies and the plaza. At present, he was investing in the pharmaceutical industry.

That was a feat no ordinary person could do!

Chuck was becoming more mysterious.

"Yeah, long time no see," responded Chuck to Zabrina's greeting.

Although there had been discord between the two of them in the past, Chuck had matured.

He didn't care about it anymore.

Moreover, Zabrina even endorsed his medicine, successfully vanquishing the unpleasant matters of the past.

Zabrina beamed at him.

Then, Chuck and Zabrina chatted for a while. During their conversation, he asked her about her recent activities, inquiring mostly about her recent schedule. As she was the most popular celebrity at the moment, her schedule must have been fully occupied since long ago.

Perhaps, even her schedule next year was fully occupied.

Chuck felt that the film industry seemed to be faring well recently. Hence, he was planning to cooperate with a special effects company in the United States to film a superheroine movie.

His reason for that was because superhero movies were very popular recently.

Since Willa owned an international movie company, she could easily contact the special effects company in the United States.

As long as the plot and the special effects were decent, the box office would be secured as long as they hired the most popular actor.

He could even plan out a series that would last for the next ten years!

That idea sprung up in Chuck's mind.

In the aspect of investment, Chuck would give a sufficient amount.

"Are you inviting me to film a movie?" Zabrina grinned, understanding Chuck's intention.

"Do you have the time?" Chuck shrugged his shoulders.

"No. After I won the best actress award, my schedule has been booked until the year after next. I have agreed to film eight movies. There are more than 180 scripts for me to look through. Thus, I am very busy," replied Zabrina, giggling.

"Uh, okay then!"

"However, you can tell me what movie you are going to invest in. If I think it's suitable for me, I can put the rest aside." Once again, Zabrina beamed at him.

Chuckling, Chuck told her his ten-years plan. Instantly, Zabrina's beautiful eyes lit up. "Really? You're going to invest in such a movie?"

"Well! In ten years, or even twenty years!" Chuck was confident that he could continue that series.

The box office would definitely increase.

"Okay," Zabrina agreed.

She enjoyed watching superhero movies and she had often imagined herself acting in that genre.

However, she could not get a good script nor an investor.

Therefore, she had been very distressed over that matter.

"Yes, I'll get someone to discuss the details of the movie, the pay and the contract with you," Chuck added.

"That's not important. What's important is, I will be the heroine!" Zabrina grinned.

She had faith that Chuck would not mistreat her in other work-related manners.

"Well, it's not wise to trust people so easily. I could be cheating you," warned Chuck, guffawing.

"Then let it be, I don't mind!" Zabrina shook her head. Anyway, she had been paid quite a large sum for endorsing his product this time round.

"Zabrina, who is he?" A man clad in a suit ran over.

He was Zabrina's manager.

"You are Zabrina's manager, right?" Chuck thought that it was better to make it clear.

"Yes, I am the one and only one. My name is Hadley Cannon!" He inserted himself in front of Zabrina, blocking her path.

As a manager, he had to deal with everything for the celebrity.

"Well, I want to invite Zabrina to film a movie." Chuck shrugged his shoulders.

"Film a movie? I don't know you. Which movie company are you from? What about the script? Why didn't you show it to me in advance?" Hadley spat coldly.

"Uh, the script is not ready yet. It's an idea that just entered my mind just now. It's a superhero movie..."

"You don't even have the script, yet you're talking about a collaboration? Are you new to the industry? You're so unprofessional!" Hadley impatiently retorted.

He even wanted to laugh!

A superhero movie? That required a large sum of investment on the scripts, directors, as well as the special effects. Was the man before him planning to produce a low budget film?

Wouldn't that ruin Zabrina's reputation?

"Zabrina, I have read a few scripts for you. The company has asked them to get the contract ready. This person is too unreliable. Just reject him!" Hadley commanded in an authoritative tone.

As a manager, he had a lot of power.

"He's very reliable! He..." Zabrina shook her head in anger.

She had always wanted to fire Hadley but it was not up to her as she had signed a contract with the company.

He had been arranged to be her manager by the company and she could not refuse.

"Zabrina, there are a lot of frauds nowadays! You have to be careful! The company asked me to make arrangements. Thus, you have to listen to me!" Hadley even mentioned the company.

"I..." Zabrina did not know what to say.

"Go away! Zabrina won't cooperate with you just because of a mere idea!" Hadley drove Chuck away.

"It may just be an idea for now, but I can hire first-class scriptwriters, directors, and secure a large investment. This film will be successful!" Chuck explained.

He could get the best scriptwriter and directors by making a phone call to Willa.

With the addition of the best actors and special effects, why wouldn't the movie be successful?

"Stop talking, you are an agent from a small company, right? Are you trying to poach? No way! Go away! Don't delay Zabrina from attending her endorsement event," Hadley hissed coldly.

"Isn't he just someone from a small company? How dare he talk about getting a large investment? How shameful!" Hadley thought to himself.

 Watch Ads to Get 15 Vouchers