

Chapter 2515

"Woo!"

Darryl took a deep breath. He slowly walked to the side and sat in a chair. He said flatly, "So all you want is to work with the Weiss Cloud Group, right? I will put you in touch with them, but let me be clear. After that, none of you could bother Jewel again."

What?

Everyone was stunned when they heard that, and then they burst out laughing.

Haha! What on earth is that guy talking about? He could connect them to the Weiss Cloud Group?

He was only a bodyguard. How could he know people from the Weiss Cloud Group?

His boasts were a little too exaggerated.

At that moment, everyone in the Moore family laughed in mockery.

Darryl ignored them. He took his phone out and sent a message.

That was right. Darryl sent a message to Clara Weiss.

At that moment, Jewel stood quietly next to Darryl, with a smile on her face. She knew that there was nothing Darryl could not do. Since he said that he had a way, he definitely had a way to do that.

Hmm?

When John and the others saw that spectacle, they were taken aback.

They felt that something was off. Was that person not Jewel's bodyguard? Why was Jewel standing, yet he was sitting?

Uh...

"Sir, the President of the Weiss Cloud Group is here."

Right at that moment, someone outside the main hall yelled, which interrupted everyone's suspicions. Then, everyone was stunned. John immediately stood up.

The next second, a petite figure walked into the hall slowly, accompanied by two men dressed in black.

It was Clara Weiss.

She had received Darryl's message a moment ago and was curious about it. She did not hesitate to head over there after learning that it was the Darren Derby that had saved her life.

"President Weiss, welcome, welcome. It is the Moore family's honor for you to be here." John smiled and walked forward, greeting her politely and stretching out his hand.

However, Clara had no intention of shaking hands with him. She walked directly toward Darryl.

"Darren, my savior. It is truly you." Clara smiled excitedly. If there were not so many people around, she would have hugged Darryl.

When she received Darryl's message, Clara was still doubtful about it. She was delighted to see him in person.

What? Savior?

Everyone was baffled. They looked at Darryl in a daze; they were rendered speechless.

Was he not only a bodyguard? Why was the Weiss Cloud Group's President so polite and respectful toward him?

...

At that exact moment, on the streets outside the Moore family's courtyard, a young man hid behind the tree as he spied on the situation at the Moore family. Then, he took out his phone and made a call.

"Master, the Moore family is the current target. Also, the Weiss Cloud Group's President is here. She was the one that we were hunting previously."

"Interesting." Zhang Jue, on the other end of the call, sneered. "It looks like the antique item is with Darryl."

That was right. Previously, Zhang Jue dispatched the assassin who hunted and killed Jeffrey Weiss.

The next second, Zhang Jue instructed, "Watch them closely. Once Clara leaves, kill her. Then, lure Darryl out. Since he likes to meddle in other people's affairs so much, I'll give him the chance to do so."

"Yes, Master!"

Chapter 2516

Soon, several assassins hid around the main routes on the outskirts of Cloudbrook City, thanks to Zhang Jue's setup.

...

Meanwhile, at the Moore family.

Clara signed a contract with the Moore family at Darryl's request.

At that moment, every member of the Moore family in the main hall looked at Darryl in a different light. They were extremely shocked.

He was only a bodyguard, yet he had such vast connections. It was incredible to be able to invite the head of the Weiss Cloud Group personally. No one would believe it if they did not see it for themselves.

Darryl did not bother to talk with them. He motioned for Clara and Jewel to leave with him.

Before he left, Darryl turned around to look at John and the others. "Your family should not be in any crisis anymore. You had better stay true to your words. No one can bother Jewel any longer."

Then, Darryl led Jewel and Clara away.

"Mister Darren."

When they were outside, Clara said excitedly, "I'm pleased I got to see you again. Let's get together for a meal."

Darryl smiled and politely declined.

"There's no need to be so polite. I still need to take care of a few things."

Then, Darryl seemed to have thought of something. He warned gravely, "Miss Clara, Cloudbrook City has been rather unsafe recently. I feel you should not leave here first. Stay for another two days or so before you leave."

Darryl did not know why, but he felt as if something was about to happen. Also, it was quite improper of him to let Clara go all the way there. After all, he had previously received her father's Heaven's Repairing Stones. It was no small matter.

After Jeffrey's death, Clara would definitely be the next target.

"Very well!" Clara said with a grim expression. She nodded and said, "I'll remember your warning."

Clara bid Darryl farewell and found a hotel in the city center to stay in for the time being.

"Mister!"

They had just left when Jewel asked,
"Should we continue investigating Endless Sky?"

Darryl nodded. Then, he said thoughtfully,
"Don't call me Mister from now on. My name is Darren, and I'm your brother."
Since he had already hidden his identity, he could not let it be easily exposed.

Jewel was smart. She immediately understood Darryl's meaning. "My brother, Darren," she said with a smile.

Then, Jewel thought of something and continued to say, "I know where the Endless Sky's branch hall is in Cloudbrook City. Let's go take a look."

Darryl smiled and nodded. He let Jewel lead the way.

On the way there, he saw someone selling candied hawthorns. So, Darryl bought one for Jewel.

Darryl still remembered that Jewel loved candied hawthorns the most when he first knew her.

"Thank you." Jewel was extremely moved. She was reluctant to eat the candied hawthorn, looking unspeakably adorable and charming.

A few minutes later, they came upon a small alley. Jewel pointed to a shop without any signage. "Brother Darren, that is the place. Previously, Brother Chester had sent someone to check on it."

Chester had been greatly concerned about the Endless Sky Organization's rapid expansion. He had dispatched someone to investigate the branch hall, but they came up empty-handed. Jewel was also there at that moment.

Darryl nodded, but he did not move. He observed the surroundings quietly.

He noticed that the streets were very narrow and there was almost nobody there. A sports car was stopped on the road in front of them. The driver looked sneaky as if he was also monitoring the situation in the hall.

After he noticed that, Darryl did nothing. He slowly walked forward.

When they passed by the sports car, because Jewel was still holding onto the candied hawthorn, which she had not eaten, the outer layer of sugar coating dripped onto the vehicle.

"F*ck. Are you blind?"

At that moment, someone flung open the door, got out of the car, pointed at Jewel, and exclaimed, "Do you have any idea how much that automobile costs? What are you going to say about your sugar dripping all over my car?"

He had long hair and looked hostile.

Jewel was frightened. She said softly, "I'm sorry. I'll wipe it for you."

"Wipe? As if it's that simple. I have sugar on my car; do you think wiping it will get rid of it?" The long-haired man said it coldly.

As he said that, he looked at the Endless Sky branch hall nearby.

Darryl walked forward and stood in front of Jewel, blocking her. He smiled ambiguously at the long-haired man. "So, what do you want?"

Darryl was curious. That man was also investigating the Endless Sky Organization. Clearly, he was against them, so Darryl wanted to ask him about it.

Chapter 2517

Who knew the long-haired man merely sought money and thought they were easily bullied?

"What do I want? Of course, you have to pay for it!" the long-haired man growled, with rage on his face.

Darryl nodded, chuckled, and said, "Very well, to get your car fully repainted should cost around a thousand bucks. I'll give it to you."

Then, Darryl took his phone out and was about to transfer it to him.

If Darryl had encountered such situations in the past, he would have definitely taught that man a lesson.

However, Darryl wanted to investigate the Endless Sky Organization on that day, so he did not want to bother too much with that man.

More importantly, Darryl wanted to get some news from him.

"A thousand bucks?"

Since Darryl was so cooperative, the long-haired man's eyes sparkled. He smiled maliciously and said coldly, "You think a thousand bucks is enough to brush me off? Do you think I'm begging for a meal? Let me tell you, if you give me anything below 10,000 bucks, don't even think about leaving."

What? Ten thousand bucks?

At that moment, Jewel was infuriated.

"Don't try to take advantage of that."

Darryl also furrowed his brows. His face had hints of displeasure. "This is robbery in broad daylight. Aren't you a little too much?"

"You're not my friend. Stop trying to be friendly with me!" The man was also aggravated. "Let me tell you. I just bought that car. I just had it for a few days, and you guys almost ruined its paint! Stop bothering me with this nonsense. Just give me the money. If not, I'll make you regret it!"

"What if I don't want to?" Darryl chuckled lightly as he said that coldly.

He had wanted to talk properly with that man, who knew that he would be so arrogant.

The long-haired man yelled and threw a punch at Darryl.

'Does he want to fight?'

Darryl sneered and grabbed hold of the man's arm; then, he applied force to it!

Thud! Thud! Thud!

The long-haired man only felt a tremendous force washed over him. He stumbled a dozen steps backward before he fell on his butt and sat on the ground.

Darryl walked forward and asked, "Why are you spying on the Endless Sky Organization branch hall?"

Hmm?

The man was stunned and a little panicked.

Soon, he snapped back to his senses. He did not reply but quickly fished out his phone. He dialed a number. "I've encountered some difficulty; please come as soon as possible."

After the call, the long-haired man kept his phone and sneered at Darryl. He said harshly, "I dare you not to run. Just wait and see!"

Did he call for backup?

Darryl smiled; he looked calm. "Don't worry; I won't go anywhere!"

Jewel, on the other hand, panicked a little. She said softly, "The Endless Sky branch hall is just nearby. Should we trigger them?"

Darryl thought for a while. He was about to answer when he saw a few cars had arrived.

Screech!

The cars stop on the roadside. More than ten men in black quickly got down from the vehicle. Then, a seductive woman led them away quickly.

The woman was in a long red dress with a smokey makeup look. Her body was tight and sexy, with exquisite and charming facial features. She gave off a sense of superiority.

What the hell?

That long-haired man's boss was a woman?

A sexy one, nonetheless?

As he muttered to himself, Darryl could not help but look at her for a while longer.

At that moment, the long-haired man quickly walked toward her. He forced a smile and greeted, "Miss Field!"

That woman was Sophia Field. She was the General Manager of Blakely Industries' Cloudbrook City branch.

When Sophia approached them, she first glanced at Darryl, then frowned and reprimanded the long-haired man, "I told you to maintain watch in the branch hall. Why did you raise such a commotion?"

The long-haired man felt aggrieved. "Miss Field. I did not do it. They were the ones that deliberately caused trouble!"

Then, he said in a low voice, "Miss Field. I think that person is from the Endless Sky Organization."

When Darryl asked the man why he was spying on the Endless Sky Organization, he mistakenly thought Darryl was a member of the Endless Sky Organization.

Chapter 2518

Hmm?

Sophia frowned when she heard that. She walked toward Darryl in her high heels and asked coldly, "Are you from the Endless Sky Organization?" Her tone was cold and hostile.

Darryl shook his head with a calm expression. "I'm not from the Endless Sky. This is a misunderstanding."

Then, Darryl looked at the badge on Sophia. He smiled. "Are you from Blakely Industries?"

Darryl's gaze infuriated Sophia. She yelled angrily, "What are you ogling at?! Be more serious. If not, I'll dig your eyes out."

Her men immediately surrounded Darryl and glared at him angrily.

Darryl smiled. "It's only a small issue. Does it need to be this way?"

Then, Darryl looked at Sophia. "Why are you spying on the Endless Sky Organization?"

"Why should I tell you?" Sophia replied coldly, "You have not even answered my question."

Darryl sighed; he knew he would not be able to get any information out of her. He chuckled and said, "Is your boss, Felix Blakely, in Cloudbrook City? Give him a call, and tell him that an old friend wants to meet him."

What?

Sophia and her men were stunned.

That man spoke so arrogantly, and he even wanted to see the big boss.

Soon, Sophia snapped back to her senses. She smiled ambiguously at Darryl. "Sure. You can see our boss. I'll call him for you, but if you lie to me about that, you'll have to bear the consequences."

Then, she took her phone out and called Felix.

"Boss, there's a person claiming to be your friend. He says he wants to speak to you." After she spoke to Felix politely, Sophia passed the phone to Darryl.

Darryl smiled and walked to the side.

"Hello, who is it?" On the other hand, Felix sounded very impatient.

"It's me," Darryl said flatly.

At that moment, Felix shuddered when he heard Darryl's voice. "Brother Darryl, you're well? So many people said that something had happened to you three years ago.

"Let's not talk about that now. I'm in Cloudbrook City on the Yellow Sea Continent, investigating the Endless Sky Organization. Right, by the way, don't expose my identity."

"Understood!"

After he gave Felix some instructions, Darryl returned the phone to Sophia.

"Boss, that man is—"

"Shut up. What do you mean, man? He is an important guest. If he asks you a question, you should answer him honestly. If you dare slack off, you can just quit."

Sophia shuddered and looked at Darryl in a daze. She was utterly baffled.

Was that person her boss' important guest?

After she hung up the phone, Sophia bit her lips and walked toward Darryl in her high heels. "I'm sorry for offending you just now.

What?

Her men, including the long-haired man, were baffled.

Sophia was one of the strongest women at Blakely Industries. She was a goddess in many people's hearts. Whoever saw her had to be polite to her, yet, they did not expect that she had to bow to that person in front of her.

Darryl smiled and waved his hand. "It's fine. We don't have to be so polite. Let me ask you, what grudge does Blakely Industries hold against the Endless Sky Organization? Why did you send people to spy on them?"

Uh...

Sophia bit her lips. She wanted to say something but stopped herself.

Darryl immediately understood what she meant. He motioned for Jewel to get into the car.

Chapter 2519

A few minutes later, they were in Blakely Industries' office. Sophia was making tea for them.

Then, Sophia sat opposite Darryl and said, "So that is what happened. For the past six months, the Endless Sky Organization has been acquiring companies all over to expand their influence in the business world.

"For the past three months, many of the companies in the Nine Mainland have been acquired. They do that only to earn more money and recruit more disciples. A month ago, someone from the Endless Sky Organization came to see me and asked me to hand over all Blake Industries in Cloudbrook City to them, which I refused."

Sophia's face was filled with rage. "What happened next was that the Endless Sky Organization used dirty tactics to destroy our company's businesses. I had no choice but to hire some cultivators, just in case. At the same time, I got someone to check out the Endless Sky Organization branch hall here. However, they are too sneaky. In the past month, they have already changed their locations five times."

So that was the case!

Darryl nodded in realization. At the same time, he was also a little stunned.

The Endless Sky Organization was so rich that they could acquire so many companies. However, after acquiring so many companies and so much wealth, they started to become bullies. No wonder Edwin Banks had wanted to join them.

As he thought about that, Darryl was about to continue to ask more questions.

However, right at that moment, Sophia's phone rang.

Her expression immediately changed when she saw who it was; then she picked it up.

"My lovely Sophia, have you considered what I told you previously? Give up all of your businesses in Cloudbrook City within a month. It has now been half a month..." A low, sinister voice echoed through the phone.

Sophia yelled, "You can only dream of taking over the Blakely Industries. Let me tell you, we are not going to give up."

Sophia was so mad that she was trembling.

"Hmm?"

The person on the other end was stunned for a while before he sneered and said, "How courageous. Not bad. I know that Blakely Industries has businesses on the mainland, but going up against us will do you all no good.

"I hear that you have recruited quite a few cultivators. If you want to fight the Endless Sky, then I'll give you a chance. Tonight at eight. The abandoned factory is in the western district. Let's fight. If you don't show up, I'll take it as a surrender!" Then the person laughed.

Before Sophia could respond, they had hung up.

"How bloody arrogant!" Sophia kept her phone. She was so pissed she stomped her feet and gritted her teeth.

Darryl walked forward and smiled. He comforted her and said, "Don't worry. If they want to fight, I'll head over there with you tonight."

"You would want to go?"

Sophia was stunned and a little worried.

"The Endless Sky Organization is pretty strong. They have a large number of powerful cultivators. I'm only afraid that —"

That man was her boss' guest. She could not let him risk his life. What if something were to happen to him? She could not bear the consequences.

Darryl smiled. "Don't worry. If anything happens, I will tell Felix myself."

Sophia nodded even though she was still a little worried. "But once we're there, don't be impulsive," she said. "I've hired many powerful cultivators. Alright?"

Darryl smiled but said nothing.

As long as Darryl did not meet someone like Zhang Jue, there was nothing for him to be worried about.

...

It was seven-thirty in the evening at the abandoned factories in the western district of Cloudbrook City.

That area had always been remote as it was next to a barren hill. The factory had been abandoned for more than two years. There were wild bushes everywhere.

At that moment, night had already fallen, and it made the abandoned factory look a little eerie.

In the factory, a bonfire was lit; it illuminated the surrounding area.

More than ten people were standing there respectfully. Each one of them was a Martial Saint.

A burly man sat by the campfire. He was the Hall Master of the Endless Sky Organization's Cloudbrook City branch hall, Hector Berg.

"Master, do you think that Sophia would dare to come?" At that moment, one of his men walked forward and lit a cigarette for Hector as he asked him cautiously.

It was almost the agreed time, yet they saw no one yet. His men were getting a little impatient.

Chapter 2520

Hector curled his lips and sneered. "She will surrender if she does not come. We'll be able to save some effort and openly take Blakely Industries' businesses."

Hector exuded confidence when he said that.

For the past three months, Hector had dealt with Sophia more than once, and every time, Sophia was at a disadvantage. So, Hector was sure that Sophia would not dare to turn up that night.

As he thought about it, Hector felt a little pity, "But, honestly, I hoped that she would come. Bloody f*ck; her body is flawless! If I could experience her tonight, it would make this trip worthwhile."

He laughed.

His men started to laugh as well; their faces were filled with malice.

"Yes, that woman is truly amazing."

"Master, if Sophia got hurt and fell into our hands, you'd have the main meal, but leave some for us as well."

"Yes..."

Hector snickered and said, "Don't worry, by then, everyone who fights tonight will get to have some."

Hector had been an outlaw in the world of cultivators on the Yellow Sea Continent. A sect was on the lookout for him. In the end, out of desperation, he defected to the Endless Sky Organization.

He was vicious and cruel. Those that he targeted would end up tragically.

On that day, orders from the high up made Hector target Sophia.

"Master! A car is coming!"

While they were joking around, suddenly, a disciple pointed at the hilly road in front of them and yelled out excitedly.

"Quickly! Let us stick to our original plan. Everyone, take cover!" Hector tossed his cigarette aside and exclaimed excitedly.

"Yes!"

All of his troops left on his command.

At the same time, a car slowly reached the road outside the factory. It finally stopped outside of the factory.

Then, a man and a lady came down from the vehicle.

It was Darryl and Sophia. Darryl refused to bring Jewel along because he was concerned about her safety.

Sophia was inexplicably nervous as she looked out the window at the abandoned factory in the middle of the night!

Sophia had wanted to bring more men with her, but Darryl insisted on not bringing anyone. Sophia was nervous, but she did not know how to persuade Darryl.

"Mister!"

At that moment, as Sophia looked at the dark surroundings in the factory, she bit her lips and said, "Hector Berg, the Hall Master of the Cloudbrook City Endless Sky Organization branch, is a very sly man. He was once an outlaw in the world of cultivators, according to what I've heard. We must exercise caution."

Sophia was very nervous.

If she had known earlier, she would have brought more people with them.

Nonetheless, Darryl remained calm. He cracked a grin. "It is all right!"

Then he took a step forward.

Sophia was nervous and anxious at the same time. She quickly followed suit.

Swoosh!

At the bonfire, whether it was Hector or the men hiding all over the place, they all looked at Sophia. Their eyes were about to pop.

How gorgeous!

Truly gorgeous!

At that moment, Sophia wore a long black dress that gave off a cold and distant aura.

At night, she was unspeakably sexy. Any man who saw her would feel a surge of primitive desire.

"Tsk, tsk, tsk."

Hector stood up slowly and looked at Sophia closely. He smiled and said, "My beautiful Sophia. You kept your word. So? Since you only brought one person with you, do you intend to surrender?"