

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1694 By eBooksCat.Com

If other people were not around, he would have slapped Catherine to death.

"Hundreds of billions worth of shares?" Titus played with the diamond ring on his ring finger and let out a deep laugh. "Why are you the one inheriting it? Who do you think you are? A reformed prisoner?"

His words were loud and clear, and the conference room fell eerily quiet.

Jeffery's face went red, but he bit the bullet and said, "I'm Rebecca's father. She's dead and has no children. According to the laws, it should be inherited by her parents."

"Are you sure you're her parent?" Titus stared at Jeffery with his deep and cold eyes. "But I clearly remember that when we were in Melbourne not long ago, you said that her father was someone else and her mother was my wife, Sheryl."

Jeffery said, "Did I say that? She's my daughter in her birth certificate anyway."

"Is that so?" Titus raised his hand to the lawyer next to him.

The lawyer immediately took out a pile of documents from his briefcase and handed it over.

Titus threw the documents in front of Jeffery. "Then take a good look at this. Your so-called daughter spent more than goo billion of my wife's money the other day. According to the law, the money that Rebecca has spent is my wife and my joint assets, so I have the right to get the money back. Since she's dead, you'll pay it back as her father."

"O-on what basis?" Jeffery looked at the figures on the document and nearly went crazy.

He had never seen so much money in his life. "You're really funny. Your daughter is dead, and you want the shares she has left behind but refuse to pay back the huge amount of money she owes.

How can you reap the benefits and leave the bad to me? Oh, by the way, here's a copy of your daughter's DNA test. It says that Rebecca is Sheryl's biological daughter, but you're saying that she's yours."

Titus threw another appraisal form at him. "Well, can I take it that the three of you are engaged in fraud? First, you used this DNA test to approach my wife and had her think that Rebecca was her long-lost daughter before you cheated my wife of her money. Now that Rebecca is dead, you want to take over the company that my wife has spent money to acquire for her?"

Jeffery sweated profusely. That was exactly it.

However, he could not admit it. Admitting it meant that he would go to jail, and he did not want to go to jail again.

"I don't know what you're talking about. We didn't know that Rebecca did a DNA test. All I know is that on her birth certificate, Sally and I are listed as her parents. We were also the ones who raised her."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1695 By eBooksCat.Com

Titus's lawyer came forward and said, "Excuse me. The money that Rebecca spent to acquire Hill Corporation came from Mr. and Mrs. Costner's bank account. If you insist on taking over Hill Corporation, we'll have to send an appeal to the court to freeze this part of the shares."

"You have no right to do that," Jeffery said anxiously. "My sister gave her the money. Tell her to come out and talk."

"She's sick and hospitalized. As her husband, I have the right to recover our joint assets as a married couple."

Titus leaned against the leather seat. "Besides, I seriously suspect that you three are fraudsters.

Coincidentally, Rebecca's remains should still be frozen, so that makes things easier. We'll just get something from her body to have a DNA test done. Of course, if she's not my wife's biological daughter, not only will I recover the assets, but I'll also sue you for committing fraud worth an astronomical goo billion dollars, which is unprecedented. I'm afraid you'll probably be given the death sentence by then."

"You're talking nonsense. We didn't commit fraud." Jeffery's blood boiled.

He did not know what to say anymore. His vision went black, but it was not enough to make him faint, so he pretended to be short of breath and then passed out in his wheelchair.

Wade, who hosted the meeting today, hurriedly got up again to call the secretary. "Is the ambulance here yet? Another person has fainted in the conference room. Send him over as well... Hurry up. Don't tarry and risk a life..."

After Wade hung up the phone, the meeting room was dead silent.

He then smiled at Titus and said, "I didn't know there was such a big dispute in the shares. Let's cancel the meeting today and discuss it again next time, or we can discuss it in detail after you two settle your disputes in private."

Titus glanced at him. "Did you know that the money Rebecca spent to hire your team to Hill Corporation was also my wife's?"

The smile on Wade's face froze.

Back then, Rebecca offered to hire him with an annual salary of 300 million.

"She spent my wife's money and hired a piece of trash like you for 300 million dollars?" Titus did not conceal the contempt in his eyes.

"Mr. Costner, I don't think I've offended you before." Wade took a deep breath and held back his anger. "If Rebecca hadn't begged me to, I wouldn't have come here."

"Enough. Don't treat everyone like a fool. You know very well who recommended you to Rebecca."

Titus stood up slowly. "I have no reason to interfere in your company's affairs, but I won't let 300 billion dollars go to waste. I'll sue you to court."

Soon, 70 percent of Hill Corporation's shares will be frozen. As for your 300 million, I'll recover it soon as well."

Then, he looked away from Wade's dark and stiff expression and shoved his hands in his pockets as he left with his assistant and secretary.

Catherine watched Titus's figure disappear before looking away, only to see Shaun staring at her in dissatisfaction.

How did she upset him again?

However, now was not the time to pursue this.

Catherine smiled at Wade and said, "She hired you for 300 million? That's too expensive. I don't think that's necessary."

"No matter how reluctant you are, Ms. Jones, Rebecca and I have signed a contract that has been stamped with the company's official seal," Wade said with a sneer. "So what? We can break the contract," Catherine said coldly. "Do you really think the company is yours? Don't think I don't know that Wesley is backing you. Let me remind you that once the shares in Rebecca's hands are frozen and the lawsuit drags on for a while, the Hill family will have the final say. When that time comes, we can tell you to get lost anytime we want."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1696 By eBooksCat.Com

"You..."

"Besides, as the president, you refuse to follow the director's orders, and you go against us instead. I even suspect that you want to take over the company. Look at Hill Corporation's top brass.

They're all your people. Do you think any Tom, Dick, and Harry can come here and do as they please?" Catherine enunciated each word with a tone so cold that it made Wade's facial muscles twitch and tremble.

Shaun had never seen Catherine so cold before, but this only made her look even more attractive. She was simply a cold beauty.

Wade sneered. "Ms. Jones, not only do you want to dismiss me, but you want to get rid of all the executives I hired as well, right?"

"What if I do? Will you get lost?"

Catherine mocked, "People like you will stay here shamelessly anyway."

Wade clenched his fists in anger.

"I know you won't leave."

Catherine said, "But from tomorrow onward, Shaun will return to the company to assume the position of president. You've been demoted, but you don't have to feel unhappy about it. When the board of directors exercises its powers, a worker like you has no qualifications to say no."

Then, she held Shaun's hand and walked away.

When they got to the door, the sound of a cup smashing came from the inside.

Catherine gave Shaun a look.

Shaun immediately understood her. With that, he clenched his fists and turned around.

It was just in time for him to see Wade glaring at their backs ferociously and the shattered cup on the ground.

"Wow. Not bad. " Shaun raised the eyebrows on his grim but handsome face. "It's the first time I've seen a president daring enough to smash a cup and glare at the board of directors."

"No, I accidentally knocked the cup down, " Wade said coldly. "What? My facial muscles are twitching out of control too. I didn't do it on purpose. Did you see me do it?"

"It's my first time seeing a worker who's more arrogant than the boss. Fine, you can get lost now. You don't have to come to the company tomorrow."

Shaun snorted in disgust and pulled Catherine away.

However, along the way, the thought of Wade's face still disgusted him. "Do you think he'll leave tomorrow?"

Catherine smiled. "Haven't you heard the saying that it's easier to invite the devil in than it is to send him away?"

"No..." Shaun shook his head firmly.

Catherine was speechless. She forgot that he had lost his memory. "He won't leave. Wesley must've bribed him and given him a lot of benefits, so he doesn't even need his dignity anymore. If you come to the company tomorrow, he'll definitely make the top management refuse to work with you. Even if you become the president, it's just an empty seat."

"They can dream on if they want to make me a figurehead." Shaun's eyes flashed with anger. "Cathy, I think you have it too hard. Do you have to deal with these kinds of scum often? Don't worry. Sooner or later, I'll trample over them and make them respect and revere you."

Catherine turned around, and when she saw his serious expression, warmth filled her heart. "Shaunny, don't take it too seriously. After all, as long as Uncle Titus recovers the shares and stops Wesley and Jeffery from succeeding, Wade will be helpless. He's just a scoundrel." "Okay. Cathy, I think Uncle Titus is quite impressive." Shaun suddenly looked at her with a complicated gaze. "Do you admire him very much? You kept staring at his back when he left. It was as if you were reluctant to look away from him."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1697 By eBooksCat.Com

Cathy was speechless. So that was why he was unhappy just now.

"Yes, I admire him quite a bit." Catherine nodded without concealing her admiration.

Titus may be both good and evil, but ever since he rescued Suzie, Catherine began to respect the man from the bottom of her heart.

He pampered and cherished Shery as a husband, but he did not overindulge her. To be truthful, with Titus's strength, Shaun and she might have died long ago if he went all out on them when he first came to Melbourne.

It was said that the more money a man had, the more bad habits he had. However, she could not see that in Titus.

He was truly good to Sheryl. Whether she was good or bad, he did not abandon her when she became sick.

Although she did not like Sheryl, she was envious of that love and marriage.

As for herself, her marriage was a failure, and Shaun was not as open-minded and tolerant as Titus either. Otherwise, he would not have been easily deceived and used by Sarah.

Perhaps he did change a lot after they reconciled, but not long after they got back together, he...

Catherine looked at Shaun sadly and saw him frowning despondently.

"Cathy, don't worry. I'll become an admirable man like him." Shaun clenched his fists in determination. "I'll study hard and take Hill Corporation back."

Catherine smiled. "I admire him not because of how domineering he is in the business world. You won't understand."

"Then you can tell me. I can learn," Shaun quickly added.

"What do you want to learn?" Catherine gave him a side glance. "What I admire is his fidelity to marriage and how forgiving he is when it comes to love. Who are you going to use this on if you learn it?"

Shaun froze.

He was still very far from experiencing marriage and love.

He was a little distressed. He had never encountered these before yesterday. In fact, he could tell from the group photos on his phone that he had a close relationship with Cathy.

However, Cathy was married and had children. What relationship did he use to have with her? Shaun was very lost.

"Let's go home. You still have class later." Catherine did not think too much about it. She admitted that Shaun was growing very fast, but how unlikely was it for him to understand love yet?

Not long after getting into the car, Freya called. "Cathy, are you done? Rodney said he wants to go to the manor to visit Shaun. I also haven't seen you for several days, so I'll be coming along with him."

"Tsk. You two are getting along quite well, huh? You're even going to places as a couple now."

Catherine teased with a grin.

"Don't be ridiculous." Freya hurriedly warned her in a low voice.

Catherine could instantly guess that Rodney might be present, so she smiled. "Okay, then. I'll go to the supermarket later to buy some groceries. You're more than welcome to come over."

"Hehe. Remember to make a few more of my favorite dishes."

Freya grinned and hung up the phone. Once she turned around, she was confronted with Rodney's handsome face.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1698 By eBooksCat.Com

Her lips almost hit his nose, but she held her breath for one second, and her mixed-race featured face suddenly reddened. "Rodney Snow, why are you so close? Are you insane?"

"You're the insane one, Freya Lynch. Are you incapable of saying anything nice?" Rodney was frustrated. However, when he looked at her rosy face, a strange feeling surfaced in his heart.

Recently, Freya's belly had grown as huge as a balloon, and her face was much rounder than before. She looked a little chubby, but her skin was glowing from her diet at home. It made people want to pinch her.

"I do say nice things, but not to you," Freya snorted. "Cathy has to go grocery shopping, so we'll go over a little later."

"Oh, that's fine. I have to go upstairs and do something." Rodney smiled strangely and excitedly ran upstairs.

Freya stared at his back, puzzled.

An hour later, Rodney drove to Hill Manor.

Since the manor was not far away, they arrived in less than half an hour.

As this was Freya's first time at the manor, she became envious when she saw such a large manor. "This place is so big. Compared to yours, my villa is only a little bigger than your bathrooms."

Rodney retorted awkwardly, "Whose bathrooms are this big?"

"Yeah, the bathrooms here are about the same as yours." Catherine grinned. "Let me show you around and pick some fruits along the way."

"Sure." Freya turned to Rodney and said, "Don't follow me around. You can look for Shaun instead."

"Why would I follow you around anyway? Nobody cares. Do you think you're that popular?" Rodney snapped instinctively.

"Great. Then don't follow me around in the future." Freya sneered.

Rodney choked. "Do you think I want to follow you around? You're the one who's always rash. I'm worried that you'll hurt the child."

"Thanks. If you didn't push me because of Sarah, my child would have been healthier than anyone else." Freya sneered back.

"That happened a long time ago. Why are you still bringing it up? Forget it. I'm not going to argue with you. I'm going to find Shaun." Rodney waved his hand in anger and quickly walked away.

Catherine was speechless. "You two... Aren't you tired of bickering all the time?"

"It's fine. It's just a waste of saliva." Freya shrugged. "In fact, I won't be used to it if he doesn't bicker with me one day."

"Serves you right that you're stuck together." Catherine sighed.

Freya looked at her in confusion. "Why?"

"The two of you are so sharp -tongued. If you two didn't get together, you'd be destined to live a lonely life." Catherine said, "Now, at least you have each other."

"You can kiss our friendship goodbye." Freya waved her hand in anger.

"I'm joking." Catherine hurriedly grabbed her hand. "How's the baby? Is she naughty?"

"Don't talk about it. She keeps kicking my stomach at night. She's so annoying," Freya said with disdain, but her eyes were sparkling.

"You really think she's annoying?" Catherine raised her eyebrows. She was also a mother, so she knew that mentality best. "Tell the truth."

Freya said with mixed feelings, "You know it. I never used to welcome her arrival, but as my belly got bigger, the baby grew bigger too. When I eat my favorite food, she gets very excited in my belly.

When I play her music, she'll move as well. It's amazing. All of a sudden, it hit me that I'm really about to become a mother, and I have to be responsible for a life."

"Every mother goes through that journey, including me. When she's born, you'll feel it's even more wonderful. Although life is filled with many unhappy things, children are all little angels," Catherine said with a smile.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1699 By eBooksCat.Com

"He doesn't think of himself as a two-year-old baby anymore. I told him that he's actually older than me. I've recently hired several professors for him, and he's learning rapidly. He'll probably catch up to his previous level of knowledge in a month."

"But... So what? He still doesn't remember the past and the feelings both of you used to share." Freya hesitated and then reminded her, "How many times has he forgotten you and then fallen in love with you again?"

Catherine fell silent and became a little sad. Yes, how many times has it been?

It seemed like ever since she met Shaun in Melbourne, she had always been the one trying her best to pursue him and attract his attention.

Even after she came back from the United States, she used her methods to seduce him from Sarah.

Yes, she succeeded every time, but was she tired? She was really tired.

The mutual and pure love was always out of her reach.

"I don't know." Catherine was lost. "Back then, his memory was only disordered, but this time, he is like a baby. He is a blank slate when it comes to feelings. In fact, I can easily make him fall in love with me. However, life is a long journey, and I can't help but wonder if it'll happen again. If it does, will I be able to take the initiative and stay strong every time? How many times can I do this? I'm not made of steel. I'm just an ordinary woman."

"Cathy, I have never commented about your relationships, but my heart aches for you when I see you like this. I really do feel like... Shaun doesn't know how to take care of himself at all. If he wants to date you, don't agree to him so easily."

Freya said, "He has it good to be able to just forget everything. To be honest, if the person I like forgets me time and time again, I will want to slap him to death even if he was tricked by another person.

Since he has a wife and child, it's his responsibility to protect his own brain."

"You're right." Catherine smiled. "Let's wait for now. After this is all over, I want to be single for a while. Relationships are always like that. Although it's sweet sometimes, it can be very painful some other times too, especially... your feelings. You'll always be the only one who remembers the unforgettable events.”

“Will Shaun remember the past? Will Chester be able to find a way?” Freya asked.

“I don’t know either.”

In the study.

Shaun was on his laptop, carefully studying Hill Corporation’s relevant information.

He wanted to master all the information regarding Hill Corporation quickly so that he could take control of Hill Corporation as soon as possible and lessen Cathy’s burden.

“Thump thump.”

There was a sudden knock on the door outside.

Thinking it was Aunty Yasmine sending him food, he said, “Come in.”

“Shaun, I’m here to play with you.” A beautiful man with an alluring face and dressed in a floral shirt came in.

Shaun cast him a cold side glance. He remembered this face. This person had visited him in the hospital before, but he did not remember his name.

“Who are you?”

Rodney’s beaming face froze. “I... I’m Rodney. I introduced myself to you when I was at the hospital to see you.”

“Oh. ” Shaun’s gaze returned to the laptop screen, treating Rodney as if he was invisible.

Rodney felt like he was back in junior high school. Damn it. Back then, Shaun also treated him like he was invisible.

“Shaun, I specifically came here to visit you.” Rodney approached shamelessly. “Catherine said that you know your real age now. Actually, I’m your best friend of twenty years. You can’t have forgotten our deep friendship just because you lost your memories, right?”

"You're annoying." Shaun glanced at him in disdain.

"Well, I was going to tell you some important information, but it seems like you don't need it. In that case, I'll go..."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Chapter 1700 By eBooksCat.Com

"Wait," Shaun spoke again.

"No, I'll leave. You're not the Shaun I know anyway. You don't care about a friend like me at all." Rodney sighed softly. "Don't tell me to stay."

"I'm not telling you to stay." Shaun looked at him speechlessly. Did he really have such a neurotic friend?

Rodney, who was suddenly embarrassed, said, "I'm really leaving."

"Sit down." Shaun pointed at the chair at the side.

Only then did Rodney swagger to take a seat. His eyes glanced at the laptop on the desk. "Looking at information about Hill Corporation?"

Shaun did not answer him. He simply frowned for a while before asking, "What was my relationship with Cathy in the past?"

"Why don't you guess?" Rodney raised his eyebrows, gloating.

"If I could guess, would I be here talking to you?"

Shaun snorted. "Forget it. If you don't want to tell me, I can find out by other means."

"You're so cruel." Rodney was a little angry. "Don't you feel anything at all?"

Shaun frowned. He did not know how to use a computer or a phone before this. However, now that he did, he secretly checked it with his phone this morning. If an adult man and woman kissed, they must be in some sort of relationship.

Moreover, the kiss he had with Cathy was a french kiss.

Upon recalling that information, his handsome face turned a little red.

"Hehe. What naughty thoughts are you thinking?" Rodney chuckled.

Shaun glanced at him coldly. "She's my girlfriend? But she's already married and has children. Then, a m I... her paramour?"

"...Ahem. You're pretty amazing to know what a paramour is." Rodney gave him a thumbs up. "That description is quite appropriate."

That was the same as admitting it. Shaun's face darkened.

He really was a shameful paramour?

"You don't need to be angry. You had it coming." Rodney chuckled. "Do you know who Suzie and Lucas's dad is?"

"How would I know?" Shaun was annoyed. "Just get to the point."

"You are Suzie and Lucas," Rodney said coolly.

"What?" Shaun was shocked. Yesterday, he realized that he was not a two-year-old baby, and today, he had to accept that he had two three-year-old children?

He held his head and felt the need to calm down. "How is that possible?"

"Can't you see how much Suzie resembles you? Catherine and you were once married, but... you divorced her for another woman. Then, Catherine married Wesley, but Wesley was a liar and refused to divorce her. However, you both got back together after you pursued her. So that's the story," Rodney explained complicatedly.

Shaun furrowed his brows.

He really did not expect his past relationship with Cathy to be so complicated.

However, when he thought that Cathy was his girlfriend and that they had children together, he did not seem to mind it at all. In fact, he was quite happy.

Did this mean that she would never leave him?

"Oh, let me show you something." A mysterious smile suddenly etched across Rodney's face.
"I'm only showing this to you because you're my bro."

More New Chapters PDF Downlaod Here:
www.eBooksCat.Com Thankssssss