

The Alpha's Mysterious Mate by Audrey W Chapter 49

/ The Alpha's Mysterious Mate by Audrey W

Peter's POV:

Our week-long honeymoon had sadly come to an end. Even just thinking of the sex Serena and I had had during these days was already enough to make me feel alive.

We used our time alone to try all the different sex positions. It was good that we tried something new.

Sex could get boring, so we would definitely need to switch it up from time to time.

Sex was an art, something that needed to be done with imagination.

When we returned to Red Maple, we immediately noticed that Alvin and Tessa's relationship had made rapid progress while we were away.

The two of them looked intimate.

Even if I was just gone for a few days, a lot of work had piled up for me to finish.

I spent the next week holed up in my office, dealing with the matters of the pack and the company.

My mother was excited to teach Serena about Luna's duties, but I told her not to rush Serena yet.

I thought Serena deserved a few more days off to rest before diving into work.

Alvin mentioned that he had found the location of the lab for the hybrid experiments.

Alexander had purchased a big lot in Texas and set it up there.

After I finished with my work, I planned to ask Alvin more about it.

Bang, bang, bang! Loud knocks came from my door.

Before I could even answer, the door was already pushed open.

Anita walked into the room, panting.

"Alpha, it's Luna. She's in danger."

I got up immediately and followed her out.

Anita told me that something was going on at the pack's gym.

I sped up my pace.

By the time we had arrived, lots of people stood outside.

I heard howls coming from the wolves inside.

The bystanders immediately made way when they saw me.

There was a wolf with black and white fur, which I guessed was Tessa.

And then there was a plain white wolf, which was Serena.

I had counted about twenty male wolves surrounding the two of them.

Each wolf drooled and stared in lust.

Their wolf penises were all erect.

Clearly, these male wolves didn't have mates yet.

They were also in heat, which made them more excited.

I transformed into Nate and ran to Serena's side.

"Serena, what happened?"

"We were exercising in the gym when suddenly these male wolves started to surround us. I ordered them all to go away, but to no avail. You try driving them away. Maybe the Alpha can make them rational."

"Retreat, all of you! Get out!"

I let out my Alpha roar.

However, my Alpha roar only caused them to step back for a second before they went back to surrounding us again.

They had lost their minds because of their strong desires.

Nevertheless, it was still very strange that they would still disobey my orders.

Perhaps there was more to this situation than I thought.

“What should we do, Alpha?”

Anita transformed into a wolf and ran to our side, too.

Several wolves looked like they were ready to attack.

I used my intimidating stance, revealing my fangs and trying to scare them away.

It didn't work on them at all.

But I couldn't hurt these members of the pack, unless it was completely necessary.

This would be tricky if they started to attack us together.

I saw Serena transform back into human form.

She was going to be naked, which would make her more attractive.

Fortunately, she had covered herself up just in time.

One wolf who could no longer control himself finally took the opportunity to pounce on his target.

With a wave of Serena's finger, she willed the wolf to fly in the other direction and dropped him to the ground.

It was a good thing that Serena acted quickly, so the bystanders would not have noticed.

“Serena, do not use her powers on the pack members.” I mind-linked her.

It would be more complicated if we brought any superpowers in.

Many people were watching and it just wasn't the right time to expose Serena's identity as a hybrid.

Also, if Serena would ever lose control and accidentally kill these wolves, I would not be able to explain myself to the elders.

Another wolf looked ready to pounce on us again.

These werewolves had become complete savages, willing to risk their lives in exchange for their desires.

I ran over before the wolf could land on us, throwing him out with my claws. I withheld from using my full strength, for fear of hurting him too much.

"There're too many people here. We can lead these wolves to the infirmary. There are tranquilizers in there."

I mind-linked Serena.

Serena nodded and transformed back into a wolf.

I roared at the bystanders by the gym's exit.

Everyone stepped aside as quickly as they could.

Serena, Anita, Tessa and I exited the room.

Together, we rushed to the infirmary, with the crazy male wolves hot on our heels.

The next difficult task was tranquilizing all the wolves as soon as possible.

Fortunately, Serena was able to control the wolves for a while and held them still for the tranquilizing.

Soon enough, they had all finally passed out.

"Alpha, I'm here. What happened?"

Alvin came into the infirmary, out of breath.

"A big group of male wolves went crazy. We just finished tranquilizing all of them."

After a while, I ordered the guards to lock up these wolves in the prison for now.

Anita, Serena, and I went back to the gym to investigate the scene.

I asked for the surveillance video from the staff that was on duty.

The elders and my parents had also come once they heard.

Watching the behavior of the wolves earlier on the video, everyone was shocked.

"But it can't be... Even though male wolves are in heat, they do not lose the ability to still obey Alpha." Steve shook his head in confusion.

"Do you think they might have been stimulated by something? Perhaps we can have Doctor Edwin check up on them."

My father stared at the screen analytically.

"Something's been going on in the pack recently. I suspect that someone is playing tricks on Red Maple Pack," Steve hypothesized.

"Well, it was fortunate that Tessa and Luna were powerful enough. I could not even imagine what would happen if it were someone else..." Anita's voice trailed off in fear.

"Anita, can you tell us more details about the events that led up to this?"

"Luna, Tessa, and I were just doing yoga in the gym. Right after, a male wolf barged into the gym, looking at us with lust. Luna tried to scold and drive him away, but more and more wolves came in. It was impossible to manage. We were left with no choice but to leave, only to find that more men had been waiting outside the yoga room. At first, they seemed harmless and just stared greedily. But then, they all started to transform into wolves. The three of us had to transform into wolves, too, for the sake of our protection. Luna tried again to order them to retreat, but it seemed that they did not want to listen at all. This was a serious situation, so I took an opportunity to break off from the group to find help."

"Did you notice anything wrong with the werewolves before they transformed?"

I stared at the faces of the men on the screen.

"No, they didn't look too unusual."

All of us then headed to the prison to interrogate one of them.

"What's your name?"

"Aaron, sir. May I ask why I'm here? What did I do, Alpha?"

The werewolf had a confused look on his face.

David held up his phone and played the footage of what happened in the gymnasium earlier.

"That's what you did. You were disobeying Alpha's orders," David snapped at Aaron.

Aaron looked terrified, like he had seen a ghost.

"But...how could this be? What happened there? Why don't I remember any of it at all? I only remember working out inside the gym. And then, someone invited us over to drink some cola. And then...I don't remember anything after that. Alpha, please believe me. I have no idea what happened in that video."

Peter's POV:

I asked the guards to let us interrogate a few more male wolves. All of them, it turned out, had no recollection about their actions in the past few hours.

"Serena, can you verify the truth for us with your mind reading power?" I turned to Serena.

Serena stepped forward a little and stared at the wolves we were interrogating.

Now that their minds were clearer now, she could hear their thoughts better.

"They're all telling the truth, Peter,"

Serena spoke in a low voice and turned to me.

So it was true.

None of these wolves had any idea of what just happened.

I asked the guards to take them back to their cells.

Some sort of punishment was still the right thing to do, since they endangered the pack.

We all headed back to the gym to investigate further.

Except for the spilled cola on the floor, there was nothing that looked too suspicious.

"David, get a sample of that cola and send it to Dr. Edwin for examination." I nodded at David.

A few hours later, blood tests of the involved male wolves had come out.

"Alpha, from the lab results, it turns out that the blood of these werewolves shows very high concentration of the drug Viagra."

Doctor Edwin glanced at his clipboard.

"What did you just say? Viagra?"

An elder werewolf perked his head up all of a sudden. His reaction gained him strange looks from all of us.

"Well...not that I've ever used it. I had just heard of it before..."

The elder stammered to make up an excuse, it seemed.

"Yes, Viagra. We have also received results from the cola sample. Based on our research, it seems to me that there is a kind of knockout drops in it, which is usually used by wizards and witches. That medicine consists of herbal ingredients such as Sneezeweed, Danish scurvy grass, and Angelica pubescens, all of which are commonly used to make aphrodisiacs. Ingesting this kind of concoction will indeed lead one to impetuosity, recklessness, and irrationality,"

Doctor Edwin explained to us.

"Hmm...wizards again." Steve stroked his chin thoughtfully.

"So, someone is plotting against our pack." My father gritted his teeth.

"Yes, all the substances in the male wolves' blood match what is in the cola," Doctor Edwin confirmed.

"If Luna and her friends weren't there today, those wolves would have still attacked other victims nearby from ingesting that medicine. Those male wolves could have hurt other defenseless and underage she-wolves. The consequences would have been unimaginable."

My father wrung his hands in deep concern.

"We have met so many problems after the Luna Ceremony," Steve said somberly.

"Where did these cans of cola come from, anyway?" I asked.

It seemed that solving this would be more difficult than I expected.

"Clearly, the gym staff did not procure these themselves. Judging from the codes on the cans, it seems that these are normal ones purchased from shops," David replied.

"But how could they contain that concoction if they came from a shop?"

Silence fell on us no one had an answer to this question.

Each one picked up a can of cola and carefully observed it.

Judging from the packaging, it looked totally normal to me.

"Perhaps the medicine was injected with the use of a very tiny needle." Serena passed me the one she was holding.

I tried to look for a hole everywhere, but my eyes caught nothing.

Serena instructed me to point the can up to the light in the room.

Sure enough, I was able to spot the most minuscule hole by the ring-pull.

My Luna's observation skill was top notch.

Her senses were much more sophisticated than that of ordinary werewolves.

Everyone else did the same as I did. Gasps erupted in the room as they found holes in each of the cans.

"Oh, what a despicable and deceitful method! Who would be able to do such a thing?"

"Peter, do you smell anything else on this?"

Serena asked me again.

I held the can close to my nose and it was filled with the scent of sweat. But suddenly, a pungent smell also came forward from the can.

Anita picked one up and had a go, as well.

"Wait... That's the smell of nail polish!"

Anita successfully recognized the scent.

"How strange. Why would the cola be anywhere near nail polish?"

"Maybe it was difficult to inject the needle into the can. I imagine that while the perpetrator was struggling to insert the needle, her nails must have rubbed on the cans."

"So, nail polish... It was a woman?"

Serena and I looked at each other knowingly.

I knew we both thought of the same person right away.

Other than Kate, there was no one else in this pack who would have done something like that.

"David, find Kate and bring her here." David left, but not long after, he came back empty-handed.

"Alpha, Kate's gone! We've checked the CCTV footage. She left just a few hours ago and was headed to the airport. She probably knew that she was going to get found out and fled!"

"Fine. Then we'll settle this when she gets back. That is, if she dares to show her face to us again."

I asked the guards to keep the men in captivity for a while and ordered Dr. Edwin to administer neutralizing medicine for them.

This matter was settled for now. Tessa and Serena came so closer to disaster today.

Accompanying Serena back to our room, I noticed that she looked a little down.

Serena's POV:

I hadn't expected that so many bad things would happen after I arrived at Red Maple. It seemed that wherever I set foot, I brought upon disasters to those around me.

Was I... the bane of this pack? When Peter asked me to read the minds of the men, I could sense their fear of me, as if I was some monster.

Perhaps I shouldn't have come here at all.

Should I leave for the sake of protecting this pack? "Serena? What's going on in your head, honey?"

"Oh, nothing. Maybe just a little tired. But Peter... Has the Red Maple Pack always been peaceful up until I arrived?"

"Oh, honey. You should just get some sleep. It's not good for you to think like this. Of course, the pack has witnessed some incidents before you came. Everything that's happening now has nothing to do with you."

Peter placed his arm around my shoulder to provide some comfort.

"I just feel like if I keep using my powers, I will just keep bringing disaster and destruction onto this pack. That's not what a Luna is supposed to do."

"Serena, it was the Moon Goddess who paired us together, remember? She knows what's best, so don't overthink your position here."

"How could Kate do this? She seems like a simple woman. She couldn't have possibly handled all these things herself."

"Yes, I agree. I know Kate. She's not exactly the brightest. She must have someone helping her. I've already tasked Alvin to further investigate this matter. As for the dark magic, I will investigate it myself and see what kind of person did this."

"Are you going to investigate alone?"

I didn't expect that Peter would leave me alone so soon.

"Yes, the detective has found some helpful clues. I'm taking Alvin with me, though. It's all been arranged for."

"I want to go with you, Peter. Please, don't leave me alone here."

I wrapped my arms around Peter's waist.

We had never been separated ever since we arrived at the Red Maple Pack.

"Listen, my love. You are the pack's Luna now. When I'm gone, it is your duty to take over until I get back. One of us needs to stay with the pack and protect it."

Hearing Peter's words felt like the whole weight of the world had fallen on my shoulders.

Tessa's POV:

"I'm really sorry, Tessa. I was being too careless. I should have been here to protect you. I don't even want to imagine what could have happened if Peter hadn't arrived in time..."

Alvin's face was filled with guilt.

"Alvin, it's not your fault. Besides, I can't ask you to be around me the entire twenty-four hours of every day. It was just an unfortunate coincidence."

"Come on, my turn to take you somewhere." Alvin cocked his head to the side and smiled mysteriously.

"Ooh, where are you taking me?"

"You'll know when we get there, Tessa. Here, let me carry you."

He signaled me to jump onto his back and squatted down so I could reach him.

With me clinging onto him, Alvin ran effortlessly in the woods as if I weighed nothing.

But even while we were traveling, my pheromones were restless.

I brushed my lips against his ears and left kisses down his neck.

Around thirty minutes later, we arrived at a cottage on the mountain.

Even if there was no light on, the moon and stars were enough to perfectly illuminate the scene.

"Wait. Is this...my old cottage?"

My eyes widened with joy. Alvin placed me back down and handed me a small remote control.

"Go ahead, press it."

I looked at the remote control with some hesitation, but pressed it anyway.

All of a sudden, different colored lights lit up the cottage magically and music played in the background.

Soon, I realized that the lights on the wall were actually spelling out something.

Putting the letters together, I found that it read, "Alvin Loves Tessa Forever."

It looked so beautiful under the night sky. My mouth fell open and I brought up my hand to cover it.

"Alvin, I didn't know you decorated my old cottage."

"If you like this, you'll definitely like the inside more."

Alvin held out his hand for me and we walked up the stairs together.

"You changed the door, too? I remember the door was quite old already."

"Yes, I did. Your old door was rusty and creaky."

"Do you have the key?"

Alvin brought out a small bag from his pocket.

He then handed it over to me. I opened the bag and fished around for a key.

However, when I took out what was inside, I found that it was actually a pink diamond ring.

"Oh, my God! What is this?"

"Do you like it? It's for you. Let me put it on you."

The ring slid perfectly onto my finger.

Under the moonlight, the diamond shone beautifully, refracting light in a multitude of angles.

"It's perfect. But how did you know the size of my finger?"

"I've been quietly observing when we held hands."

Alvin finally took out a key and turned the doorknob.

The door swung open and we walked in together with hands intertwined.

He switched the lights on and my eyes were filled with such a new sight.

My cottage had been completely refurnished to feel as cozy as my room in the Maple House.

However, I immediately noticed the elephant in the room.

The bed here was so much bigger than my old one.

Rose petals were sprinkled all over the sheets.

I turned around to take in the sights and gasped for joy.

There was even a new bathtub installed, with rose and lavender petals inside it, too.

Alvin dimmed the lights for a more intimate atmosphere and played some soft music.

With the press of the remote control, a skylight that I had never seen before was suddenly opened on the roof.

It would provide such a perfect view when we were lying on the bed and falling asleep under the stars.

"Alvin, this is amazing!" Alvin scooped me up and put me on the bed.

He lay down next to me and held my hand while the both of us looked up at the starry skies.

“So, this is the special place that you’ve been talking about.”

“Yes, it is. Do you like what I’ve done with the place?”

“Yes, I do. Very much.”

I turned and rode on top of Alvin in one swift motion, kissing him slowly.

Our tongues intertwined greedily with each other.

Alvin’s POV:

Tessa dry humped my hard dick through our clothes.

“Alvin, give it to me now. I want it, please,”

Tessa moaned in a small voice.

I turned us over so that I was now pressing Tessa underneath my body. I slipped my fingers past her underwear and began to stroke her pussy.

This was the first time I had seen Tessa’s vagina, and I wanted to get a good first look at it.

She was already so wet down there.

Her labia were swelling with desire, and her vagina in the middle was such a fresh hue of red.

I just knew that was the most wonderful place on earth! I could not wait any longer.

A fascinating and intoxicating scent floated in the air.

I lowered my head to face Tessa’s pussy and started to lick it with my tongue.

It was the best taste that had ever been on my tongue.

I could never live without this taste ever again.

Every other woman could not compare to Tessa at all.

“Oh, god, Alvin!”

Tessa screamed at the top of her lungs as she arched her back. I was very experienced when it came to sex.

Gentlemen must always know how to please a woman first.

I imagined my tongue as a slippery deep sea creature, swimming in the ocean of Tessa's pussy. I then flickered it at a high speed insides of her, releasing waves of sensations.

Tessa's pussy kept getting wetter and wetter.

"Oh, Alvin. That feels so good. I can't stand it anymore. Give it to me now! Go deeper!"

Her nails dug into the flesh of my shoulders.

That reaction of hers just made me hornier.

But I knew that if I kept Tessa waiting any longer with this torture, she might faint.

"Okay, I'm going in."

"Yes, give it to me now!"

With my penis in my hand, I first rubbed it on her swollen labia to lubricate it.

Once it was wet enough, I finally slid it inside of her.

"Oh, baby. You're so tight!"

I could feel the walls of her vagina wrapped tightly around my dick.

But even then, sliding in and out was easy and smooth.

I took a pillow and instructed Tessa to raise her butt so that I could place it under her.

That way, her vagina wouldn't be so low and I would have an easier time moving myself inside.

"Oh, Alvin! Harder! Deeper!"

I then sped up my thrusts, each thrust going deeper than the last.

With my experience, I was able to move in and out at a fast pace with perfect rhythm.

“Yes, that’s it! Oh, my God! You’re awesome, Alvin!”

Tessa gasped loudly.

Our moans filled the cottage.

We didn’t need to suppress our voices, since there was no one else around.

By this time, Tessa had already orgasmed twice.

Every time she trembled from it, her vagina grew tighter around my penis. It felt so good.

I felt the pleasure built up on my penis grow stronger by the second, and Tessa was starting to feel warmer inside. I could feel myself about to have an orgasm as well.

After one deep breath, I sped up my thrusts even more.

“Oh! I can’t keep going, Alvin. Please finish already!”

A few moments later, I finally came.

I trembled inside of Tessa’s vagina.

As we both gasped for air, I pulled out and lay beside Tessa.

It wasn’t long before Tessa wanted more again.

She climbed on top of me and licked me in very sensitive places.

My penis had gotten hard once again from all the pleasure I was feeling.

I carried Tessa into the bathroom, where we had sex once more in the bathtub.

We had our orgasms together, and it was there that we left a mark on each other’s neck.

“Alvin, let me out, please.” Adonis begged me in my mind.

“Tessa, is Ivy willing to accept Adonis right now? Adonis is pleading to be let out.”

“Well...Ivy is shy. But if she doesn’t say no, then it means yes.” A small smile appeared on Tessa’s face.

“Alright, then let’s go to the grassland to let them out.”

We walked out of the cottage and transformed into wolves under the night sky. We let our wolves enjoy the rest of the night together.

Serena's POV:

The scorching heat made me feel like I was in a desert. But even that did not compare to the desolation that sat in my heart, as if my whole world had collapsed around me.

From a distance, I saw a building that was going up in flames.

"Peter? Peter? Where are you, Peter? Tessa? Anita? Patricia? Where are you?"

I shouted at the top of my lungs, but there was no response.

"Hello, baby." Someone called me from behind.

I turned around and saw Peter dressed sharply in a suit.

"Pet? Where are we? Why are we even here?"

"Why not? Don't you like it here? No matter how many times the world changes, we will remain immortal forever."

My surroundings suddenly changed.

The sun rose and fell multiple times.

The plants and trees changed colors from green to yellow to red.

It seemed that time was elapsing very quickly.

I repeated this word in my head.

I looked at Peter and felt something strange about him.

"You will be mine. Forever. Always," he said to me.

This was a wizard.

He was disguising himself as Peter.

All of a sudden, several open blisters started to appear on Peter's handsome face.

The blisters burst, forming scabs that truly made everything look horrifying.

"You cannot run away from your fate!"

The wizard opened his mouth and his voice boomed all throughout the place.

And then, he leaped for me.

His hands were outstretched, his long nails ready to grab at me.

I ran away from him and headed towards the burning building.

Just when I got closer, I realized that the building that was burning into shambles was none other than the Maple House.

I opened my eyes and woke up, gasping for breath.

"Honey, what's wrong? Are you okay?"

Peter immediately turned on the lamp and held me in his arms, wiping off the tears from my eyes.

"I...I had a terrible nightmare." I held on to his arms, as if I needed to grip onto reality.

"What happened in your nightmare?" Peter stroked my hair for comfort.

"It was a wizard...He was chasing after me."

"Oh, no. Don't worry anymore, Serena. I'm here now. It's just a dream."

I curled up into a ball and stayed in Peter's arms.

If the wizard dared to make any trouble, I needed to be ready to kill him.

"Hey, baby. It's time to get up now." I felt a pinch on my nose.

"I don't want to wake up yet! Five more minutes." I was completely exhausted last night.

When Peter told me he would be away for a while, I realized that I wouldn't be having sex for a long time.

So last night, I pestered him to have sex with me.

We didn't stop until past midnight.

To add to that, I even had a nightmare.

In the afternoon, I freshened up and put on some clothes.

Peter and I headed to the dining hall together for lunch.

On the way there, we ran into Tessa and Alvin as well.

The two of them looked absolutely smitten with each other.

"Good morning, Alpha and Luna." They greeted us together.

"Good morning, you lovebirds. How was Alvin yesterday, Tessa? Did he let you down? I heard from the gossip website that Alvin seemed to suffer from premature ejaculation," I teased.

"Hey, that was a lie! Tell them, Tessa!" Alvin hurriedly explained.

"Well, he is a famous playboy, after all. I don't think he would be famous with the ladies if he often ejaculates prematurely." Tessa rolled her eyes.

"Hey, your jokes are starting to hurt." Alvin pouted.

The three of us laughed together.

David then came over and said that the elders wanted to see us.

Important guests were coming to visit today.

Then we headed to the southwest wing of the Maple House, where the reception area would be.

At sunset, these important guests had finally showed up.

They arrived together, all donning matching black coats.

Somehow, I had caught a whiff of a familiar scent.

The two men in black took off their cloaks at the same time and neatly placed them on the table nearby.

One of them was a tall man with fair skin.

His structured face seemed to be a statue carved out of marble.

Anyone could have mistaken him for a movie star.

He had the handsomeness of someone like Tom Cruise.

It felt awkward staring at him for too long.

Something inside me told me that he looked somewhat familiar, but I couldn't remember why.

The elder middle aged man also had fair skin, and he looked like Al Pacino.

When his eyes fell on me, he looked like he was about to cry.

A name had finally popped up in my mind.

"Uncle...Phillip? Uncle Phillip, it is you!" Tears welled up in my eyes.

I immediately ran over to him and wrapped him in an embrace. I finally knew why his scent was so familiar.

His cologne had made me nostalgic.

"Well, well. My Princess Serena is all grown up now." Uncle hugged me back, sniffing.

"Peter, you didn't tell me that the guest was my uncle!" I wiped my tears and pouted at Peter.

"Hey, don't look at me. I just found out about this today," Peter shrugged his shoulders, trying to look innocent.

"Phillip is actually our old friend. He has been inquiring about your whereabouts for quite some time now. We had no idea that he was your uncle until we asked. Serena, since you are still learning how to control your powers... I thought your Uncle Phillip could help you, so I made the decision to invite him here,"

Steve explained.

"Steve, my old friend. We didn't arrive too late, did we?"

Phillip gave a friendly hug to Steve.

"Long time no see, indeed. Well, welcome to Red Maple Pack. Let me introduce them to you. This is Alpha Peter, and his mate, Serena. This is James, the father of the Alpha. This is..."

Steve went on, introducing them one by one.

"Nice to meet you all," Uncle greeted everyone with a warm smile.

He then turned to me.

“Serena, I never expected to see you again. Ever since your vampire bloodline was sealed, I couldn’t feel your existence anymore. I thought you were dead. But not long ago, I sensed a strong feeling that you were still alive. Edward and I kept asking around until we finally found you. Thank heavens that you are still alive,”

Uncle Phillip wrapped me in another hug.

I realized that Uncle Phillip had mentioned the man with him.

“So, this is Edward?” I glanced at the young man who stood beside Uncle Phillip.

“Yes, he is. All these years, Edward has missed you greatly. Once he found out that you were still alive, he was the one who was so insistent on looking for you. Even more persistent than me,” he said, finally letting go of me.

Serena’s POV:

“I thought you were never going to recognize me!”

“Well, it turns out we’ve both grown so much. You look good, Edward!”

I walked up to him and gave him a friendly hug.

“Seems like you haven’t changed a bit,”

Edward hugged me back and pinched my nose.

Someone made a coughing sound behind us.

It was Peter.

“Oh, I’m sorry. Let me introduce the two of you. Peter, this is Edward, the adopted son of my uncle. When we were young, he would sometimes come to the forest and live with us. Edward, this is Peter. He’s my mate.”

“I remember back then, my brother would joke about making you two a couple in the future,”

Uncle Phillip tore up upon talking about my father. I consoled him by rubbing his back.

Annoyance quickly flashed on Peter's face. What Uncle Phillip said made him jealous.

I smiled apologetically, helpless that my uncle would bring that up.

"Well, you're just in time for dinner. I hope you haven't eaten yet! Let's continue catching up with each other in the dining hall."

James directed everyone to the dining hall. Dinner sped by quickly.

They had gone straight to business right after.

"So, Steve informed me of the recent happenings in your pack. As for Alexander, I'm sorry but I also don't know where he is. As for the magic potion, I might be able to help. Please bring me a sample of that cola. May I also request to burn some charcoal in a pot?"

"Uncle, I didn't know you knew about magic potion." I raised my eyebrows.

"I dabbled in it," said my uncle proudly.

David was ready with the cola sample and handed it to my uncle.

Alvin was the one who brought in a pot of burning coal to the middle of the hall.

"As long as it was made by magic, we will be able to track the creator of the concoction. I am interested to see who is behind this."

My uncle took the liquid and sprinkled it onto the coals, waving his hands.

The liquid sizzled onto the surface.

Different colored flames suddenly danced around the coals, resembling the polar lights.

After a while, the flames disappeared.

My uncle's expression was grave and serious.

"Well, you're just in time for dinner. I hope you haven't eaten yet! Let's continue catching up with each other in the dining hall."

James directed everyone to the dining hall. Dinner sped by quickly.

They had gone straight to business right after.

"So, Steve informed me of the recent happenings in your pack. As for Alexander, I'm sorry but I also don't know where he is. As for the magic potion, I might be able to help. Please bring me a sample of that cola. May I also request to burn some charcoal in a pot?"

"Uncle, I didn't know you knew about magic potion." I raised my eyebrows.

"I dabbled in it," said my uncle proudly.

David was ready with the cola sample and handed it to my uncle.

Alvin was the one who brought in a pot of burning coal to the middle of the hall.

"As long as it was made by magic, we will be able to track the creator of the concoction. I am interested to see who is behind this."

My uncle took the liquid and sprinkled it onto the coals, waving his hands.

The liquid sizzled onto the surface.

Different colored flames suddenly danced around the coals, resembling the polar lights.

After a while, the flames disappeared.

My uncle's expression was grave and serious.

"What's wrong, Phillip? Is there anything wrong?" Steve sat anxiously at the edge of his seat.

"I...I didn't expect the creator to be her."

"Who is it? Is it a dark witch?"

"Yes, it's Hecate. Although, I'm not sure if this particular attack was under Alexander's orders. I suggest going into a deeper investigation."

"If what you say is right, then I'm afraid we're going to have to deal with more people than we expected."

Steve's voice was full of worry.

The anxiousness in the air was almost tangible.

"Don't worry about the investigation. I will personally go and find Alexa. The Alpha's Mysterious Mate by Audrey W Chapter 53 under with Alvin," Peter announced, breaking the long silence.

“Good luck, boy.No one has ever seen Alexander.As for Serena, do not worry about her.Edward and I will stay behind and train her powers.”

Peter’s POV:

It was hard to admit, but I was jealous when I saw how close Serena and Edward were.Apparently, the two of them had known each other since childhood.Patricia even said that Edward was more handsome than I was.

Anger and jealousy bubbled up in my heart.

What was with Edward, anyway? He was just a fair-skinned vampire.I began to rethink my decision to leave the pack for investigation.

The trip was going to last for quite a long time.

Serena and Edward would see each other every day while I was away.

My mind wandered off, thinking what could happen between them.

Perhaps it would be better to hold off the trip for a few more days.

“Peter, shouldn’t you be going to bed early? I thought you and Alvin were leaving tomorrow morning.”

Serena was busy packing up my luggage for me.

“Why does it seem like you want me to leave already?”

I couldn’t help but express some jealousy in my tone.

“What? What are you talking about, Peter?”

“Tell me about Edward.”

“Well, I was a child with so few friends when I lived in the forest.Conveniently enough, my uncle had just adopted a boy around my age.He would visit us and bring his son with him.Edward became one of my good friends, and we grew up together.”

Serena noticed that I refused to respond and put her arm over me.

“What’s wrong, baby? Are you jealous of Edward?”

“Jealous? Ha.Impossible.I would never be jealous of that guy!”

I denied immediately.

"I thought you would get mad at me."

"Answer me. Who's better looking, me or him?"

"Hmm, do you want me to tell you the truth or lie?"

"Tell me the truth."

"Well, I suppose Edward is more handsome..."

I growled and pulled Serena closer, biting her where I had left my mark. I slipped my hand into her underwear.

Serena moaned.

"Oh, god, Peter! You know I love you more!"

Finally, something I wanted to hear.

"Do you still want me to leave tomorrow?"

I continued to slide my fingers in and out of her.

"I don't care. Give it to me now!"

With one free hand, I stripped Serena until she was naked, and then inserted my hard dick.

Her vagina was so wet and warm, and I began to speed up my thrusts.

"Say my name."

"Pet. Pet! Oh, god! Oh! Pet!"

Serena moaned my name.

With each thrust, I pushed deeper inside, wanting Serena to forget all about Edward.

Although I knew it was impossible for her to forget Edward, at least Serena knew that she was mine.

I was rough with Serena, which was unusual for us, but she seemed to enjoy it.

Every time I felt that I was about to have an orgasm, I switched our positions.

I wanted to prolong this sex because not being able to come was torture to Serena.

Thinking of Serena and Edward's relationship made me even more jealous, fueling my desire for her.

Serena sat on top of me, riding me with pleasure.

When I felt I was about to come, I tried to stop her.

But she was stubborn, riding me even faster.

Her moans made me hornier, and I eventually came inside of her.

Serena collapsed on top of me and gently nibbled on my earlobe.

I was still inside of her, not pulling out just yet.

My hands grabbed her ass and squeezed it.

"I like it when you're jealous," Serena whispered seductively in my ear.

"So, do you still want me to leave tomorrow?"

"I never said that I wanted you to leave." My penis got hard again while inside of her.

Serena felt this and straightened up again, bouncing up and down on my dick.
