

Chapter 446

You're Thinking About This All Wrong! At that moment, Manny felt slightly regretful. He regretted not listening to both Luca and his father. Originally, he was not afraid of Javier since he had deep connections with all sorts of people. On top of that, he had hitmen under his payroll, so he had people to do his bidding for him, both legally and illegally

However, after what happened that night, he obviously realized that everything was happening out of what he originally expected. Javier, the man who was supposed to be dead that night, was now after his head.

Manny did not want to die, so he quickly said, "Mr. Kersey! This is all a misunderstanding, a misunderstanding! I've already prepared the 3 million dollars you've asked for and was just about to have it transferred to you. Also, I'm going to call for a press conference and tell them everything about the vaccine's parent."

Javier merely said, "Thorin's dead." This very statement left Manny thoroughly mortified.

Originally, he still had held onto a sliver of hope, wishing that Thorin had only failed to get to Javier first, and that Javier did not know what he had planned.

However, that sliver of hope got instantly turned into despair after Javier said that.

"Mr. Kersey... Mr. Kersey! I had nothing to do with that! It's all that b*tch's fault! It was that b*tch who sent him after you!

"I was originally going to do as you asked, but Samantha couldn't bear to part with the money, so she secretly sent my men after you!

"How could I possibly dare to come after you when you're so powerful, Mr. Kersey?! I had nothing to do with this, I swear!

"But don't worry, I'm a responsible person, so I know what the rules are in this society, Samantha may have been the one to do it, but I'll compensate for everything. We're all living around in this society to earn more money, so I'll go gather up as much money as you want me to!"

Meanwhile, Samantha's mouth was covered up by Herschel inside the room while Manny said all that. Although Samantha was supposed to be in the hands of three beasts judging by what she had heard just now, Herschel actually understood what Javier had assigned him to do. He knew that Javier only wanted to scare the woman rather than having them toy around with her one by-one

The photos, however, had to be taken. But rather than them being taken for their own purposes, it was actually so that Samantha had a lifeline

In the end, Samantha heard everything Manny had said before the others could even begin taking her photos,

Now, Samantha was stunned and in complete disbelief that Manny would actually utter such words.

Manny was clearly the one who had planned for everything to happen, yet he was now pinning all of the blame on Samantha instead.

On top of that, Samantha was now in the hands of three men and was supposedly about to be toyed with. Yet, not only did Manny not show any concern for her, he even seized the opportunity to push all of the blame away from himself so that he could escape danger?!

Samantha was so furious that she was laughing. 'Looks like it doesn't matter whether we're a married couple or not, one of us will still leave the other when danger comes!'

Samantha, who was originally struggling, had fallen into deep despair and given up her struggles completely. 'Let them do whatever they want with me! My own husband's betrayed me already, so who else am I supposed to rely on at a time like this?'

However, what Samantha was afraid of did not come to pass. Realizing that she was no longer struggling, Herschel threw her onto the bed.

“We’re not going to hurt you, so all you have to do is keep your mouth shut.”

Samantha had no idea what the three of them wanted, but it was obviously good for her that they were no longer planning on having their way with her. Thus, she covered up her front from exposing her chest to the three of them. Meanwhile, the discussion in the living room was still ongoing as Javier asked, “Samantha’s the one who planned all that, seriously?” Manny instantly drove Samantha all the way down to the deepest abyss, without hesitation, in fact. “Seriously, she’s the one who did it! I even suspected that she was cheating on me with Thorin. I had her investigated, but she insisted there was no such thing.

“Before I was able to carry on my investigation, all of this happened.

“Mr. Kersey, you must believe me! I’m telling you nothing but the truth! Even my brother-in law and nephew have warned me what not to do, so how could I possibly offend you? I really wouldn’t. It was all that b*tch...”

Manny came up with all sorts of accusations, pushing all of the blame onto Samantha.

Samantha’s expression had changed completely. She now felt that Manny hoped that she was dead right there and then.

She and Manny had never been in sync with one another when they were together, but she still stayed with him because of his money.

However, when they ended up being married, Samantha thought she should mend her ways and behave like a good wife would.

In the end... This was what she was repaid with after painstakingly enduring the past 10 years.

At that very moment, she genuinely had the intention to kill Manny.

Sitting in the living room, Javier and Manny had a very long discussion, and he seemed to have come to believe Manny’s words in the end. Hence, immediately after that, Javier yelled towards the guest room and had Herschel called out.

“Go on, take Director Poupé somewhere and have whatever video that needs to be recorded and whatever declaration letter that needs to be written. I want everything that’s happened in the past to be clearly stated before you help him settle down.” Manny did not quite understand what Javier meant by “settle down”, “Is he going to keep me under house arrest?” Manny hurriedly said, “I’ll get all of those done myself, Mr. Kersey! There’s no need to bother your men!” Herschel smiled, with Running Man and GTR leaving the room to grab Manny away with them forcefully.

“No trouble at all, Director Poupé. It’s our absolute pleasure to be able to be of service to you.” Without giving Manny another chance to explain himself, the trio immediately nabbed him into the car and drove off.

Still in the living room, Javier lit up a cigarette and yelled towards the bedroom. “You can come out now, there’s no need for you to hide around in there.” Obviously knowing that he was calling out to her, Samantha exited the bedroom even though she was still feeling a little worried.

Looking at her trembling hands as she covered the clothes in front of her chest, Javier waved his hand at her, gesturing that she did not need to be afraid and that she was to take a seat.

“There’s a saying how a loose tongue will end up bringing a lot of trouble onto themselves. Naturally, nothing will happen to them if they keep their mouth shut.

“You’re a beautiful woman, so I’m guessing you’re smart as well, correct?”