

Chapter 476

You're the Reward After what happened at Gurtuh's the last time, Mallory had no longer wanted anything to do with Donny, but the man resorted to sweet words and repeated promises that he would not lie to her again. Thus, she had chosen to forgive him-yet, he not only tried to steal today but also lied to her without batting an eye like she was a fool.

Mallory was furious. Her hands may be cuffed, but it did not stop her from raising her leg and kicking Donny with her heels-clad foot, making the latter hiss in pain.

Javier could care less about this. He had more important things to do.

"If you both want to leave this place, the best thing to do now is to shut up and let me handle it."

"Why must we—" Another kick from Mallory shut Donny up. If Javier had not been worried about the incident embarrassing Chineans, he would not even care about these two people. Donny, especially, could be drowned in the lake for all he cared! Swinging his hand, Javier slapped Donny again without any forewarning. Donny's face was already swelling.

"Idiot!" One harsh insult later, Javier continued scolding Donny in Yuzuese, stunning the latter, but he did not care. He pressed Donny's head down and kicked his knees, so Donny fell to his knees toward the security guard for an apology.

Javier went to the guard and apologized in Hildegardan, "I'm very sorry, sir. On behalf of all Yuzuese, I apologize sincerely. This man comes from a very pitiful background.

"He's on tour with us. After 20 years in this world, he realized that his parents aren't his biological parents. When he finally found his birth parents, his adopted parents killed them in a conflict.

"His adopted father hit his birth father to death while his adopted mother killed his birth mother. His wife became a p*rn star, the kind where it's one woman with seven men, due to life's sudden changes. Basically, he's suffering. Can you forgive him?"

The relationships and background information felt complicated and complex, but the security guard understood it.

"Oh, I've watched Yuzuese p*rn. It's great. He does sound quite deplorable like this. Okay, then, I can let him go since he didn't do any damage but on one condition. He has to apologize for his mistake."

The security guard's request for Donny's apology came in the form of apologizing with a plate hung around his neck while he stood at the entrance. It was humiliating, but Javier accepted it, even making the plate for Donny personally to show his sincerity. The apology text was written in Yuzuese. "Sorry, I'm a moron from Yuzuia. I've intentionally ruined the relic here, and I'm at fault."

After hanging the plate on Donny, Javier kicked him out to stand at the entrance. Donny refused to do it, but Mallory snapped at him to shut up. Although she had no idea what was written on the plate, she could recognize the general visual of Yuzuese text and guess what Javier was trying to do. He was making Yuzueses the scapegoat. When the security guard freed Mallory, she went to Javier to thank him. "Thank you. I wouldn't know what to do if it weren't for your help." Javier shook his head. "It's fine.

We are all Chineseans and should help each other when we're out and about. Though, I think things that make us look bad like this should happen less because it's not just you two who will be embarrassed. It's everyone from the country."

Mallory felt awkward, but she was well aware of how shameful the incident was, so she replied, "Don't worry, I'll make sure to keep an eye on him. I'll book the earliest flight after we're done here and fly back immediately."

Javier nodded with a smile and no longer gave a reply. He sighed in relief when he went back to Suzanne. It was fortunate that the security guard did not find out the truth, and Javier successfully found them a scapegoat.

Suzanne looked at him with a grin, making him curious. "Do I have a flower or something on my face?"

Right as the question rolled off his tongue, Suzanne puckered her cherry lips and kissed his cheek. "I could give you one!"

She was shy, but she was proud of what Javier had done today. She thought he was absolutely wicked. "How does your brain work? How could you figure out such a great idea within such a short time?"

Javier pointed at his other cheek. "One more. Kiss me again, and I'll tell you." Suzanne refused to comply, turning her head away in playful arrogance. Despite that, it did not stop Javier from taking the initiative to kiss her, not like she put up a fight about it...

As for Donny, plenty of tourists who could read Yuzuese were pointing fingers at him.

Donny had no idea what they were saying, but he knew that it was nothing good judging by their expressions, so he snapped at them. Mallory's glare made him shut up promptly, though, because she was scared of exposing their identities.

"Yuzuese are horrible. Trash!"

"Yeah, I thought he's a Chinesean but turns out he's from Yuzuia. Yuzuia should really teach its people better."

"Idiot, how did our great country give birth to such a shameful man? Why didn't he end himself?"

Anyone who could read the plate hanging in front of Donny was either "complimenting" him or Yuzueses. Many had even taken photos and videos of him and uploaded them to the internet, causing Yuzuese netizens to begin a search for the shameful b*stard that afternoon, but that was in vain...

After returning to the hotel at night, Suzanne saw the push notification of the news on her phone. When she saw Donny's photo up there with related news reporting about it and criticizing Yuzueses, she sucked in a cold breath.

"Thank God you played a trick and covered it up, or we would have been shamed big time! Too bad, though, no one knows that we have you to thank. There's not even a reward for you." While Suzanne spoke, Javier pushed her down to the bed.

"Suzanne, others can't reward me, but you can. I like your reward the most. Each time I take off my pants, I think of your reward." Suzanne was utterly flustered then. Javier was such a pervert...

